ASTRONAUTS SPEAK HYMN OF PRAISE

. . . Say Trip Symbolizes 'Curiosity Of All Mankind'

Space Center, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 11 astronauts spoke a hymn of praise for the men and the nation that sent them to the moon. In brief, moving farewells in their last telecast from space, their historic voyage of exploration was described as a symbol of "the insatiable curiosity of all mankind."

As they sped toward one of the strangest welcomes any President ever gave his nation's heroes, Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins expressed their gratitude to the waiting world simply but with feeling.

'Far More'

"We've come to the conclusion," Aldrin said, "that this has been far more than three men on a voyage to the moon, more still than the efforts of a government-industry team, more even than the efforts of one nation.

"We feel that it stands as a symbol of the insatiable curiosity of all mankind to explore the unknown."

Their talks came some 18 hours before their spacecraft was to burn like a meteor into Earth's atmosphere and splash down into the Pacific Ocean 950 miles southwest of Honolulu at 11:49 a.m. CDT.

Each man talked for about three minutes.

Collins described the complexity of the machines and equipment which sent them to the moon and back and said the trip itself had been terribly difficult and demanding.

"This trip of ours to the moon may have looked to you simple and easy," he said. "I'd like to assure you that that has not been the case . . . All this is possible only through the blood, sweat and tears of a number of people."

Then Collins paid tribute to the thousands of technicians who assembled the machines and equipment, the men who tested them and the men on the ground who guided the flight.

Aldrin said the flight brought to mind a song of praise from the Eighth Psalm of the Bible: "When I consider the heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars which thou hast ordained, what is man that thou art mindful of Him."

'Small Step, Great Leap'

Aldrin said, "Neil's statement the other day upon first setting foot on the surface of the moon, 'This is a small step for man, but a great leap for mankind,' I believe sums up the feelings very nicely."

Armstrong said, "The responsibility of this flight lies first with history, and with the giants of science who preceded this effort."

"Next," he said, "to the American people, who have through their will indicated their desire.

"Next, the four administrations and their Congresses, for implementing that will," he said. "And then to the agency and industry team that built our spacecraft, the Saturn (launch vehicle), the Columbia, the Eagle and the little EMU (extravehicular mobility unit), the spacesuit and backpack that was our small spacecraft out on the lunar surface."

Shimmering Blue Earth

After all three spoke, the television screen filled with a final look at their home planet, still shimmering blue half disc in the black of space 105,000 miles away.

Meanwhile, scientists at the Manned Spacecraft Center studied the first hint of the scientific gain that may come from Apollo 11. They reported that a seismic device left on the moon by Armstrong and Aldrin recorded movement of the lunar crust.

Dr. Gary Latham said the tremor may have originated from either a moonquake or the impact of a large meteorite.

If the movement was a quake, he said, it could mean that the moon, like the Earth, has a molten core. If the moon and Earth are of similar structure, it could mean they are of similar origin, he said.

The splashdown target was shifted Wednesday night about 247 miles closer to Hawaii than originally planned because of the threat of thunderstorms in the original target area.

Nixon Phones Wives

From San Francisco, where he stopped en route to the recovery carrier Hornet, President Nixon talked to the wives of the crewmen by phone Wednesday. He told them he looked forward to greeting their husbands at sea.

And a strange greeting it will be for the first men to walk the surface of a planet other than Earth.

There will be no presidential handshakes for the returning heroes. They will be treated like the bearers of a deadly disease.

Space officials fear the astronauts may return from the moon with some exotic lunar germ that could devastate life on Earth if freed. Officials say the chances of such a bug are infinitesimal. But, as one noted, "there's too much at stake" not to play it safe.

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins will be greeted in the water by a frogman wearing a heavy biological isolation garment and breathing through a gas mask-like canister.

The frogmen will toss similar garments to the astronauts aboard their spacecraft. This quick opening of the hatch is the weakest link in a quarantine chain that will keep the astronauts isolated at least 18 days.

Mosquitoes, Bad Machinery Only Guard Gripes

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Camp Ripley, Minn. — A gripeless army is a non-existent army, but some 3,000 Nebraska National Guardsmen here have only two real grumbles.

Mosquitoes so big they swat back, are the bane of field troops, many in the eighth day of bivouac. Bugging with equal gusto — and raising even bigger welts at 67th Infantry Brigade staff level — are equipment breakdowns.

Fully 24% of the training post's 200 track vehicles are out of action, crippling operations and prompting a request to shift camp next summer to Fort Carson, Colo. Conferences to that end are being held with 5th Army and Defense Department personnel.

"We don't quarrel with diverting new equipment to Vietnam and we're not critical of Ripley," said Brig. Gen. John R. Stephenson, brigade commander. "But vehicles that are doggies, obsolete and worn out just won't keep up with us."

Probably no outfit on the 54,000-acre post felt the deficiencies more than Co. D Maintenance of Lincoln and Crete. Its impossible assignment included the repair of weary M-48 tanks and armored personnel carriers.

The unit's 80-ton tank retriever (M-88), a 1,000-horsepower Hercules that can handle most anything disabled, has been pushed to the limits of both men and machine.

"We've been pulling in track vehicles all day every day," said S/Sgt. Larry Halsey of Lincoln. "Besides that, we even got the job of plucking a chopper from a tree."

Near Tragedy

The heliocpter crash referred to could have been a tragedy for pilot Henry Alberg, a Guard major now of Littleton, Colo., and two passengers. Engine failure brought a low-level drop, but there were no injuries.

"Extremely high pilot's skill" was credited with the save, and two units are being cited for extinguishing flames which followed the crash. They are Fairbury and Beatrice's Hq. and Hq. Co. of 2nd Bn., 134th Infantry, and the maintenance platoon of D Co., 67th Support Bn., Lincoln and Crete.

With only two training days to go, troops have not been plagued with the weather extremes of many previous encampments. Showers did add realism to some 2nd Battalion battle tests.

"We get out the goggles when it's dusty and the ponchos when it's wet, but keep right on going," said Lt. Col. Kenneth Dermann of Lincoln, battalion commander. "At least we've had some pretty good temperatures overall."

Another downpour drenched many troops just prior to the annual Governor's Day parade. Nobody took it in easier stride than Platoon Sgt. Merle Beetley of Fairbury, whose 30 years' service earned him honors and a seat with big brass on the reviewing stand.

Platoon-level Army Training Tests have occupied many units, particularly the three line companies, A, B and C, of the 2nd Battalion. The 1st Battalion will undergo similar training Aug. 9-23 at Fort Riley, Kan.

Security and the army's ageless emphasis on "cover, camouflage and concealment" are also receiving priority. Most units are scheduled to leave for home Saturday.

Minnesota's cool nights were especially pleasant to the Cornhuskers who were fresh from steaming harvest fields. There were even few complaints of one near-sizzling day.

"Weather hasn't bothered us much at all, but oh those mosquitoes," said SP5 Bob Colin of Co. D Maintenance, Lincoln. "I'll swear they were big enough to eat!"

Punch Boards Termed Legal For Nonprofit Organizations

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Non profit organizations, such as fraternal lodges, veterans clubs and churches, may now legally sell chances on punch boards.

Punch boards have been termed legal under LB691 in an opinion written by Deputy Atty. Gen. Gerald S. Vitamvas.

The bill, which has been signed into law by Gov. Norbert Tiemann, provides "any bona fide nonprofit organization whose primary activities are conducted for charitable and community betterment purposes may conduct lotteries, raffles and gift enterprises . . ."

"We see no substantial difference," Vitamvas said in the opinion, "between the use of a punch board as a lottery than a lottery conducted in the traditional sense of the word."

Punch boards are "permissible (under LB691) if the proceeds are used solely for charitable or community betterment purposes and the awarding of prizes to the participants," he wrote.

Although punch boards are not mentioned in LB691, the Vitamvas opinion notes it is "not a question of whether the county attorney or this office may authorize use of punch boards or lotteries but a question of whether or not the Legislature has authorized such use."

The Vitamvas opinion reasons the Legislature has authorized punch boards.

In contrast to lotteries and raffles, the Legislature has placed bingo, authorized by the voters as legal gambling, under regulation of the Tax Commissioner's office.

The 1969 law legalizing lotteries and raffles makes no provisions for regulation of non profit organizations conducting such enterprises or use of the proceeds.

Informed sources said Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas has advised local law enforcement authorities and at least one fraternal organization that punch boards are legal under a "liberal interpretation" of LB691.

Several months ago, Lincoln police cracked down on punch boards in private clubs after an incident in which some $900 was lost by a Lincoln man at one private club.

Now Back

Punch boards are now back in a number of private Lincoln clubs as a result of Douglas' advice, according to informed sources.

Sources pointed out punch boards are prohibited in public bars and taverns as an illegal gambling device under state law and State Liquor Control Commission regulations.

However, they point out, it would appear LB619 would permit punch boards in private clubs with liquor licenses if they otherwise qualify under its provisions.

Balanced Sales-Income Rate Plan Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday stamped its initial endorsement on a plan to statutorily balance Nebraska's new sales-income system by requiring that each tax be tapped each year for the same amount of dollars.

The bill, LB574, would require the State Board of Equalization to adjust sales and income tax rates annually to raise identical sums of money from each levy.

Sales tax rates are now established by the Legislature itself.

Clears Test

Sen. Rick Budd of Nebraska City, chief sponsor of LB574, which cleared its first floor test on a 26-4 vote, said the effect of the new plan would be to retain about the same balance now built into the broadened tax base with a 2% sales tax and 10% personal income tax rate.

The 50-50 balance would be struck between the net sales tax (subtracting revenue returned to taxpayers in the form of food tax credits) and the gross revenue from personal and corporate income and franchise taxes.

Opposing the bill were Sens. Don Hanna Jr. of Brownlee, Rudolf Kokes of Ord, Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha and George Syas of Omaha.

Up To Solons

Pedersen said the Legislature should not only continue to set the sales tax rate, but also assume from the Board of Equalization the responsibility for establishing income tax rates.

"We determine what programs to continue and which to add," he insisted. "So we should accept full responsibility for our actions."

Budd said the responsibility for tax rates would remain with the Legislature, even though the mathematical calculations which determine them would be undertaken by the board.

"We determine what is spent and, by doing so, we determine the rates," he said.

'More Lead Time'

But, Budd noted, LB574 would allow the state "more lead time" in judging the economy before establishing tax rates.

This year, for instance, he said, the board would have until Nov. 15 to set rates for the 1970 calendar year whereas the Legislature would need to act at least two months earlier if it were to establish rates while still in session.

Rates would be changed in 1970 for the 1971 calendar year if economic conditions alter revenue projections. The Legislature would not be in regular session in 1970.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, whose Revenue Committee accepted Budd's revised bill, said it provides "the solution (for those who) want to bring in equal amounts from the sales and income taxes."

Burbach agreed with Budd that the Legislature will be responsible for tax rates "because we are responsible for appropriations."

LB574 would leave the present food tax credit of $7 per person unchanged.

'Rocked To Sleep'

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa expressed concern that the Legislature "may get rocked to sleep" on spending bills if it does not need to establish tax rates before adjournment.

Transfer of the responsibility for establishing the sales tax rate to the Board of Equalization raises some delicate political questions. Gov. Norbert Tiemann is chairman of the board.

The governor wants the Legislature to set tax rates.

Kennedy's Auto License Suspended

Edgartown, Mass. (AP) — The driver's license of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was suspended Wednesday as a result of his auto wreck last weekend in which a young secretary was killed.

In a related development, one of the five girls who stayed behind at a party that preceded the accident was quoted as saying the five did not learn of the wreck until the morning after it occurred. She also was quoted as saying she could not believe the men at the party knew of it either.

The wreck occurred either late Friday night or early Saturday morning as Kennedy was driving a sixth girl at the party — Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, of Washington, D.C. — to catch a ferry.

The car skidded off a narrow bridge and landed upside down in a tidal pond. Kennedy escaped with a mild concussion and strained neck muscles. Miss Kopechne drowned.

In a copyright story in Wednesday's Worcester Gazette, Miss Esther Newburg, 26, one of the five young women who remained behind at the party, was quoted as saying that she and the other girls weren't told of the accident until Saturday morning.

Kennedy is accused of leaving the scene because he didn't report the wreck until almost 10 a.m. Saturday, more than eight hours after it happened.

Kennedy added two more lawyers to his defense staff, Robert G. Clark Jr., a former district judge, and his son, Robert G. Clark III, both of Bridgewater. They join Edgartown attorney Richard McCarren, who represented the senator earlier this week when Police Chief Dominic J. Arena formally sought a complaint charging Kennedy with leaving the scene.

Arena told a late afternoon news conference: "We're trying our utmost to get to those people who were at the party." Arena said these individuals returned to the mainland the day after the accident and as far as he knows haven't been back.

Nasser Declares 'We Shall Fight'

World News

Cairo — President Nasser declared Wednesday night that the United Arab Republic's conflict with Israel was passing into the "stage of liberation."

"We have to fight and we shall fight for the recovery of our lands," he said in a speech at the opening session of the congress of the Arab Socialist Union, the country's political organization.

The president's declarations coincided with the 17th anniversary of the overthrow by Nasser and fellow army officers of the Egyptian monarchy headed by the late King Farouk.

Earlier in the day, the country's defense minister, Gen. Mohammed Fawzi, proclaimed in a message to the armed forces that the holiday marked the beginning of the "year of liberation."

Nasser, however, cautioned that "the path before us is long and difficult" and would involve "bitter struggle."

The president spoke amid sharpening tension along the Suez Canal after heavy air and ground fighting Sunday. Repeatedly, the president bitterly condemned the United States and, in a somewhat milder tone, Britain, charging that they had "joined hands for the benefit of Israel."

He voiced scorn for the United States' so-called 13-point plan for a Mideast settlement, which Cairo rejected last month. Assailing the United States for arms deliveries to Israel, Nasser declared, "Israel could not pursue its aims of conceit if it was not receiving weapons."

He appeared to slam the door on any hopes for an early restoration of diplomatic relations with Washington, broken during the six-day war in 1967 with Israel.

Rebutting some Egyptians who say a restoration of ties with the United States would aid the Arab cause, Nasser noted that Jordan had retained relations but that her west bank remained under Israeli occupation.

The president's criticism of the United States and Britain was the harshest since the 1967 war, reflecting bitterness here over failures of diplomatic endeavors to bring about a settlement and an Israeli withdrawal.

NASA Isn't Sure Exactly Where Eagle Sat Down

Space Center, Houston (AP)— If someday you would like to go see Apollo 11's landing site, don't ask NASA for directions. They're not sure where the Eagle landed.

But scientists hope that film coming back with the Apollo 11 crew will solve the mystery of the precise landing site.

The scientists need to know exactly where Eagle's Tranquillity Base is to gain maximum knowledge from Apollo 11 and to insure the scientific success of future missions.

"I'm quite confident that once we have the returned film, we will be able to pinpoint a definite location," said Dr. Eugene Shoemaker, a U.S. Geological Survey scientist.

NASA knows, within a mile or so, where Eagle landed. They have radar data of Eagle's landing and takeoff, astronauts' descriptions of the approach to the landing and television pictures during the moon walk.

Tracking instruments on earth are not precise enough to establish Eagle's location exactly. Tracking data, officials said, placed the location within a mile-wide circle.

Road Named Apollo

Seoul (UPI)—South Korea's first superhighway, linking Seoul with the port of Inchon, has been named "The Apollo Highway," to commemorate man's first moon landing.

DECONTAMINATION SUITS . . . will be worn by the three astronauts after they splash down. The suits will be thrown through the spacecraft hatch, when it is opened for less than 30 seconds.

Moon Walker Armstrong Highest-Paid Astronaut

Space Center, Houston (UPI) — Civilian Neil A. Armstrong held an enviable position among the nation's 63 astronauts even before he became the first man to step on the moon. He was already the highest paid.

Armstrong, a former test pilot, receives a base salary of $30,054 per year, plus some fringe benefits shared by all the astronauts.

The principal extra income comes from the astronauts' contract with Life magazine. Each astronaut receives a little over $3,000 per year and a $100,000 life insurance policy from Life.

For that the magazine receives exclusive rights to the astronauts' personally written stories, exclusive interviews and photographs.

The magazine's photographers have access to the astronaut homes during each mission. The contracts are negotiated for the astronauts by attorney Louis Nizer of New York.

Some astronauts receive additional income from other outside activities, such as serving on the boards of directors of banks and insurance companies.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administraton has to approve the astronauts' outside activities. It forbids them from serving on boards or working for firms which have contracts with NASA, from endorsing products and accepting pay for speeches which are considered part of their jobs.

Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin receives $20,607 per year and Lt. Col. Michael Collins receives $18,648, in addition to the outside pay.

Hastings Hit By Tornado

. . . Damage Estimated At $200,000

Hastings (AP) — A tornado skipped around Hastings in the early morning hours Wednesday, toppling a drive-in theater screen, ripping the roof off a filling station and causing widespread damage.

No injuries were reported.

There were numerous power outages throughout the city but most service had been restored by daybreak.

The Nebraska Patrol estimated the damage might approach $200,000.

Wall Collapsed

Fred Teller Jr., manager of the drive-in theater, who was in his office counting the night's receipts when the storm struck about 12:35 a.m., said he was not prepared to make an estimate of the loss. Besides the toppling of his screen, a part of the wall collapsed and he said it will be a week or so before he can reopen the theater.

About a mile and a half southeast of the theater, also on U.S. 6 rural route south of the city, the roof was ripped off the Edwards Oil Company and one wall toppled.

A construction company also reported that some stacked plywood at a residential site in the northwest part of the city was blown away, indicating that the storm had touched all parts of Hastings. The nature of the damage convinced observers there was a twister.

A state trooper in the area said that high winds at the time made it difficult to keep his cruiser on the road. Winds were clocked at 65 to 70 miles per hour.

The rainfall in the 20-minute storm was measured at .62 of an inch. The total reached .82 by 8:30 a.m.

Tree Damage

City Engineer T. R. Stewart had his trucks out early cleaning up tree limb damage. Based on the June 22 storm, which many observers said was less severe than Wednesday night's storm, he estimated the cleanup job would cost the city about $7,000.

Ravenna, Clay Center and Shelton were among other points reporting wind and hail damage.

Road Crashes Claim 2 Lives

By the Associated Press

An Overton woman and a Scottsbluff youth are the latest Nebraska highway fatalities. They died in separate accidents.

Injuries suffered in the collision of two pickup trucks Wednesday about three miles west and one-half mile north of Elm Creek claimed the life of Mrs. Marie Hickman, 40, of Overton.

Mrs. Hickman, who died in a Kearney hospital, and her husband Robert, were passengers in a truck driven by Audrey Grassmeyer, 40, of Kearney. The other driver was Milford Johnson, 50, of Holdrege.

Johnson, Grassmeyer and Hickman apparently escaped with minor injuries but were hospitalized at Kearney, the State Patrol said.

Eddie Fay Clark Jr., 18, of Scottsbluff, died in a Scottsbluff hospital of injuries received Sunday about eight miles north of Minatare. The car he was driving apparently went out of control while trying to pass another vehicle and rolled twice, coming to rest on its top.

State Trooper Jim Brill said both Clark and a passenger, Raymond Cox, 18, of Gering, were thrown from the car.

Clark, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Fay Clark Sr., of Scottsbluff, had been hospitalized in critical condition with multiple internal injuries.

Cox was reported in satisfactory condition with internal injuries in Scottsbluff hospital.

Blair On 2nd Viet Tour Justifies U.S. War Role

RICHARD M. BLAIR

Fighting Communism

Sidney (AP) — When enemy action picks up at Lai Khe, Vietnam, Army Spec. 5 Richard M. Blair asks himself why he is in its midst.

He asks why the United States entered the war and if the objective is correct.

"And each time I come up with the same answer," the professional soldier wrote in a letter to his mother, Mrs. Alice Blair of Sidney.

Blair said he is serving his second tour in Vietnam because America should act "to stop the Communists at their own doorstep, to keep a small country from becoming part of red China, to let them choose their own govrnmnt and their way of life."

The eight-year veteran serves as a helicopter mechanic stationed with a medical evacuation unit at Lai Khe.

"This isn't my home, my land — I have nothing here," said Blair, whose wife and children also live in Sidney.

"A girl told me that before the Americans came, many South Vietnamese soldiers were killed by the Viet Cong," he wrote. "Then the Americans came and now not so many South Vietnamese died. But many V.C. die and this is good."

Blair said the girl was attending school to learn how to fight with a rifle at night after she finishes work. She would replace an American soldier when trained.

"Is this the kind of people we have become?" Blair asked. "To let a girl 20 to 22 years old fight in the place of an American — a girl just barely five feet tall, to replace an American six-footer, a defender of freedom?"

Blair said in his letter he justified his presence in the war zone five ways.

"First, I am an American; second, I am a professional soldier, third I took a vow that I would defend my country and obey the lawful orders of those appointed over me; fourth — I am a member of the greatest society that has ever lived on the face of the earth; and fifth, the United States of America has pledged to help defend any country from a government not of their own choosing," he said.

Blair criticized involvement of American politicans in the American war effort.

Blair said both the military and politicians have their jobs to do but the jobs do not mix. But nevertheless he voiced respect for the American system.

"I believe the United States of America is the greatest country in the world and even though backwards in some ways, it is forging forward with head held high leading the way for all free people all over the world."

Crazy Horse's Burial Site Research Target

Nebraska News

Ft. Robinson (UPI) — The final resting place of Chief Crazy Horse, the Ogalala Sioux who died at the hands of U.S. soldiers almost a century ago, has been one of the great frontier mysteries.

The chief was bayoneted to death while allegedly resisting imprisonment the year after he led the Sioux nation against Gen. George Custer and the 7th U.S. Cavalry at the Little Big Horn in 1876, but no one knew where he was buried.

Two Nebraska men and a South Dakota priest think they've found where to look.

Dr. William T. Miller, history professor at Chadron, Neb., State College; the Rev. Joseph Karol, of the St. Francis Indian Mission on the Rosebud reservation in South Dakota, and Bob Buchan of Gordon, Neb., a student at Chadron State, hope to pinpoint the location of the body within a year.

Buchan and Father Karol have discovered a soldier's diary complete with a picture of the supposed burial ground, and both feel they may have only to match the hills in the early photograph with the surrounding terrain to get a close approximation of the burial ground.

While they feel the picture may only show the initial site, they agree that the final resting place may not be too far away.

A grant from the humanities and social science program of the U.S. Office of Education is financing the research.

Man Found Drowned At Lake Near Lincoln

The body of a Lincoln man was recovered from Lake Conestoga Wednesday by Lancaster County sheriff's deputies.

The victim was identified as Jeryl E. Campbell, 32, 5103 Prescott, by authorities after they found the car keys in the pocket of his pants fit a car towed in Tuesday night after it ran through a barricade on a dead-end road approximately one mile south of Denton.

Officials said they found Mr. Campbell's wallet in the car with pictures of himself and his Lincoln address.

Speculation by a spokesman from the sheriff's department was that Mr. Campbell apparently drove his car through the barricade then wandered from the accident to the lake 2½ miles north of Denton where he drowned.

According to officials, Mr. Campbell might have been in a "diabetic daze" at the time of his death since he had been undergoing treatment for "a lengthy period of time."

The nude body, which was floating in three to four feet of water was discovered at about 9 a.m. by Robert Sieg of 640 Northborough Lane, who was fishing in the lake.

Authorities said Sieg hailed some boaters, who phoned authorities from a nearby farmer's house.

Sheriff's deputies said they found no evidence of foul play and noted that clothes which may have belonged to the man were found on the shore.

Among the black shirt and trousers and shoes were found some unopened letters and a pair of car keys.

Deputy Gerald Herndon said the letters were first believed to bear the name of the drowned man, but an investigation later proved they were taken from a farmer's mailbox near the lake.

Authorities said the body was estimated to have been in the water about two days.

Former St. Paul Lady Dies Of Stab Wounds

Salt Lake City (AP) — A 57-year-old Salt Lake area woman was stabbed to death with a meat fork Tuesday, apparently after she surprised a prowler in her four-room apartment, the sheriff's office said.

Sheriff Delmar L. Larson said the body of Gladys M. Powers was found lying in a small hallway of the apartment by her husband, Kenneth L. Powers, when he rturned from work about 5 p.m.

The woman had been dead five or six hours, said Larson.

The sheriff said the murder weapon was a nine-inch, two-tined, fork, apparently taken from a kitchen drawer.

Mrs. Powers was stabbed in the chest twice and beaten around the face and neck, a detective said.

Larson said nothing of value was taken from the apartment and the assailant apparently fled immediately after the slaying.

Powers is a U.S. Reclamation Bureau official at Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Powers and her husband formerly lived at St. Paul, Nb., where he was a district governor of the Lions Club and she was active in Girl Scout activities.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

These are trying days for just about everyone — editorial writers, public officials and taxpayers. The latter may give you some clue as to what we are talking about. This is the time of year when governments are fixing their tax levies for the coming fiscal period.

It is a tough job. Public officials seek to provide a budget that will meet what they know are the needs of the people they are supposed to serve. At the same time, the taxpayers are breathing down the necks of these officials, concerned that the tax bite not become too deep.

There really is hardly any middle ground, any point of compromise. City Councilman Tom Allman and Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis are to be commended for the concern they have shown for the city's needs.

Allman cited the standing $20 million Lincoln storm sewer needs and posed the question of when and how the need is ever going to be met. Mrs. Boosalis suggested a ½ per cent city sales tax, to finance storm sewers and perhaps street improvements.

None of the thoughts or suggestions was immediately ruled out by the rest of the council. The entire council, in fact, has demonstrated in budget hearings to date a desire to met city needs as far as possible with a realistic budget.

And what about editorial writers? They are supposed to have an insight and an opinion on everything. But they face the same dilemma the public offficial faces — the pull between needs and the public's ability to finance them.

This writer persists in the belief that there is a sufficiency of funds available to tax, a sufficient tax base, but that you can't get to it. In other words, the tax system is not sufficiently geared to the ability to pay.

Still, you can't weasel out on that score. If things are not perfect, you have to make the best of them the way they are. Thus, you have to decide on what to do on the basis of the tax system available to work with.

For Lincoln, that means the property tax and the sales tax. Neither of them, in turn, is perfect but neither are the people of Lincoln taxed, in general, to an overbearing degree.

The claim of excessive taxation is refuted in the area of personal spending where the luxuries of life are commonplace. Thus, it seems to us that city government ought to meet the challenges it faces.

Its greatest challenge is in the area of storm and sanitary sewers and streets, the latter rapidly becoming an acute matter. Unless Lincoln does something about traffic movement, it is not far from stangulation by the automobile.

★

Thus, we urge that the City Council seriously consider what Allman pointed out and what Mrs. Boosalis suggested. Not everything needs to be done at once but a program of achievement in major areas of need has to be started.

This cannot be done without additional funds. The City Council should provide for a continuing program of progress in these areas of major need and establish a tax scale that will finance it.

Probably, it makes little difference whether it is the property or sales tax which is used, as a matter of equity. We lean toward the sales tax simply because the property tax is so heavily used by the schools.

By enacting a sales tax for a program of progress, the City Council may win no popularity contest but it will be making an investment in the future on which many dividends will be paid.

Man's Grasp

What Comes Next?

Several disturbances in Lincoln this summer, especially typified by Tuesday night's activity at the pavilion in Antelope Park and later in the evening the rock-throwing and fire-bombing in the Malone area, make one wonder whether any city has figured out what to do with its young people during their leisure time.

During the incidents Tuesday, a racially mixed group of youths fought at the dance and a police officer was struck and injured with a steel brace while attempting to break up the disturbance. The dance was closed down, an unfortunate but necessary act on the part of police officials. It has happened before.

Later, and related to the earlier occurrence, a crowd was dispersed after throwing rocks at cars near 22nd and Vine. Several Malone area businesses were then hit with rocks and bottles containing inflammable liquids. Fire and police officials were called out and several arrests ensued, three of which came after high-speed chases.

There have been fighting and horseplay at teenage dances as long as can be remembered. Kids have and will forever hang around particular locations in great numbers if for no other reason than to see what's going on.

But what we are seeing in Lincoln this summer, while not nearly as volatile as in other cities, is not healthy. For one thing, there does not seem to be any place sanctioned by the city where youths can go and feel they can have a good time in their own way. Recreation centers — existing or planned — do not appear to be the answer. Another observation: militant Negro youths are increasingly engaging in race-baiting and some white youths have not been notable for their forbearance. The abrasive attitude does not apply just racially, either; area and school differences are and have been a fact.

It is an obvious answer to say that the police should crack down harder on violence and that anybody carrying a steel pipe or throwing rocks and Molotov cocktails should be arrested. This city, however, has come to the point it should take full stock of the situation. Officials should ask of young people what it is the city can provide in an official way for their relaxation and recreation. If an answer is not forthcoming from the young people themselves, reaction will be the order of the day.

People Like A Bargain

One of the most popular actions of the Legislature has been the abandonment of a bill proposed by Sen. Terry Carpenter. He sponsored a so-called anti-loss leader bill which required a 10 percent mark-up on all goods sold at retail.

There is currently a required overall mark-up of six per cent but merchants are free to sell individual items for whatever mark-up suits them, even none at all. Thus, a merchant can sell one item at a loss, even, to lure customers into his place, hoping that they will then buy other items that carry enough profit to offset the loss on the original item.

Carpenter's idea was to protect the small merchant against big volume operators and that is a laudable objective. The trouble is that there was no support for the measure. The press throughout Nebraska generally seized upon the bill as a bad one, as an attack against the free enterprise system.

And the general public simply has little feeling for any merchant, large or small. All the customer knows is that a bargain is a bargain and that is what he wants. If a store wants to offer a $3 item for $2, the customer wants the store to be able to do so.

Merchandising, of course, is a combination of many things but the lack of support for the anti-loss leader bill is evidence of the fact that price is still a big consideration with the average shopper.

Pay Inequities

Lincoln, Neb.

Years ago the work of a psychiatric technician was limited only to the task of maintaining discipline and janitorial work on the wards. Now the technician plays a very important role in the overall treatment of the patient. During the past 10 years, new education programs have placed more demands on the technician in the areas of special and intensive treatment therapy.

The technician must be able to give oral medications, injections and chart as taught by in-service education under the direction of a registered nurse. Worker duties and responsibilities have greatly increased.

From January 1 to July 1, 1969, 192 new technicians were hired — but 194 were terminated because of insufficient wages. Many dedicated and in-service trained technicians have sought employment elsewhere. It is more expensive to run a poor institution, understaffed and underpaid.

In 1965 a delegation of technicians was sent to present the problem of insufficient salaries to the Legislature. A raise was not given and the quota was cut. When a special session of the Legislature met in the spring, a petition was sent to Mr. Morris, director of institutions. The technicians were told that nothing could be done until they convened again in 1967. However, at this time the penitentiary was granted a $50 starting pay raise. As a result of this lack of consideration, our institution has been operating with a very dangerous shortage of psychiatric technicians. Many work double shifts, 16 hours a day, or six and seven-day weeks. The one really being cheated is the patient, the most needy of all.

In our neighboring states, we find the following wage scales. Minnesota now has a starting salary of $356 per month, compared with Nebraska's $267. There is a proposed starting wage of $400. In Colorado and Kansas, the technicians were earning more money in 1967 than we were in 1969. As a result, in 1968 there was a turnover of 346 out of 347 technicians hired. Many moved to these neighboring states.

The proposed five per cent does not even cover the increased cost of living, nor does it serve as adequate reward for our increased duties. We feel that Nebraska is able to provide excellent health care for the mentally ill.

DDT Effects

Beatrice, Neb.

I was astonished to read the statement in the July 22 Star, by County Extension Agent Emery Nelson, that "There has been no documented evidence to stustantiate claims that DDT has been killing birds and animals."

Just for a starter, Mr. Nelson and anyone else wanting documentation should write Director Harold Wittey, Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, and ask for the booklet: "Bird Mortality and the Dutch Elm Disease."

A great deal of documentation has been done on the effects of DDT — to the point where it is being banned in many places. Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" was one of the first eye-openers.

The City of Lincoln is to be congratulated on the decision to stop the use of DDT for Dutch elm disease spraying. May many more cities and towns follow suit!

Kennedy Accident

Lincoln, Neb.

No one is perfect, and can become involved in a fatal accident, and be innocent of intentional wrong-doing. Yet when one acts cowardly and hides out for eight to 10 hours before reporting an accident because of apparent panic, it would appear he needs no sympathy. He should face the law and its punishment as any other citizen would have to do.

The people of America must have superior men to represent them, not those who retreat when faced with an emergency. One who claims exception because of family name and its abundant financial resources certainly is not prime material for any position of government administration of our affairs.

Patchwork Prairie Country

What to write for the twenty-fourth of July except that it is twenty days after the Fourth. July has been a typical mid-summer month, hot, humid, windy at times with deathly calm days mixed in for variety — but always an abundance of blistering sunlight.

It's watermelon days, picnics in the park and swimming at the pool. It's night baseball games, barbecues in the back yards and lightning bugs flitting through the darkness.

July is The Farmer mopping the sweat from his brow, the dog panting under the front porch and me counting the days until the first snowfall. July truly represents The Good Old Summertime.

The Farmer picked apricots last night after the sun went down and it seemed less humid. I am contemplating an apricot pie within a day or two. My favorite jam is one my mother used to make using apricots and pineapple, cooked until thick and syrupy and eaten on fresh homemade bread.

To become very definite, I liked it best if the bread were slightly warm so the butter would dribble over the brown crusty edge, then spread with the apricot jam. Whether I ate the jam to make the bread disappear or the bread to make the jam disapper, I don't know but the combination was licking good.

Some of the apricots will go into the freezer. This is the first year we have had apricots so I have never put any away for winter eating. Apricots are not the work cherries are to get them into the deep freeze. Pitting cherries is so tedious.

The Farmer is shredding ten acres of wheat stubble that is so thick plowing would be almost impossible unless it is done.

Years ago it was a common practice to burn the stubble ground before plowing. On quiet summer evenings I remember seeing spirals of black smoke curl lazily into the evening sky as the dying embers of fire burned the last remnants of straw from the land. This is seldom done any more. Straw is put back into the soil to provide a source of organic matter. Corn stalks are likewise being shredded and plowed into the fields.

Farmers have learned that soil is composed of other materials beside the nitrogen and other commercial fertilizers that they add to their land.

Cucumber vines without cucumber beetles seem almost impossible to a gardener of many years, yet that is the situation in my garden this year. I have had my garden dust ready to pounce on the first beetle that dared venture on a plant but nary a one have I seen. Cucumbers are three inches long and growing as if they want to be the first peck to be picked and pickled.

There are so many small grasshoppers this year so it would not be at all surprising if they eat enough for the beetles' share as well as their own. Perhaps they are rehearsing their attack now . . .

"Ready, hop, hop,
To the garden spot.
One, two, three
On bended knee
Everybody jump."

Pioneer In Rockets Once Faced Arrest

NEW YORK — The father of the liquid-propulsion rocket, Robert Hutchings Goddard (1882-1945), was threatened with arrest if he ever again sent one of his sizzling darts skyward in his native Worcester, Mass.

At the urging of Charles A. Lindbergh, who called upon him in 1930 to learn something about the potential of rocketry, Goddard moved his operations to Rosewell, N.M., where the wide open spaces essured him of no more scoldings by urban police. As early as 1919 the Smithsonian Institution had agreed that Goddard, a pale and somewhat withdrawn physics professor at Clark University in Worcester, was a man with a future. The institution published his treatise entitled "A Method of Reaching Extreme Altitudes."

Goddard had another reason for moving to the desert. He had had a serious respiratory problem for years; indeed, his life was despaired of as a child. Now, with some financial backing from Harry Guggenheim, he shipped his strange gear westward, including an ancient windmill which he had fashioned into the world's first launching pad and gantry.

In talks with Lindbergh and others, Goddard declared that there was every reason to believe that a rocket could be constructed which would be able to carry instruments as high as 75 miles above the surface of the earth, a heady thought at the time.

Lindbergh specifically asked him if a rocket could ever reach the moon. (It was at that time popular to deride Goddard as "moon mad." Goddard said it was feasible. He explained that such a rocket would have to be, in effect, a series of rockets: as one stage burned out, another stage would take over the job. He added that proof of an impact on the surface of the moon could be obtained by filling the final stage with magnesium and alerting earth-bound observatories to train their most powerful telescopes on the lunar surface and await the tiny flash.

Having said as much, Goddard, a most conservative man, shook his head and smiled.

"But something like that would cost a million dollars," he sighed. That was unthinkable for the father of the climax of the $24 billion Project Apollo.

☆ ☆ ☆

Early in World War II, Goddard made a trip to Washington to urge the War Department to consider long-range missile artillery. He could find nobody interested in such an outlandish proposal. He was, however, asked to be a consultant in the development of the bazooka. On the whole, the Pentagon thought of this quiet man as a chap who could do something substantial about stepping up the production of "jato" bottles —charges of solid propellants which enabled heavily-loaded runways.

In the end, the Navy turned out to be most sympathetic toward him. But, even there, he was still considered a "jato" man.

Goddard died on Aug. 10, 1945, while working in a Navy laboratory in Annapolis, Md. The last of the V-2's had long since ripped into London, descending from space at many times the speed of sound. He was a forgotten man, by and large.

Fifteen years ago, as the U.S. emerged into the Space Age on the wings of liquid propellants, the government paid a million dollars to his widow and the Guggenheim Foundation for infringing on Goddard's patents. Two years later, NASA dedicated its space center at Greenbelt, Md., to his memory.

President's Complete Itinerary Unannounced; May Include Both Vietnam And Soviet Union

NEW YORK — Responsible and well informed people in Washington are now saying privately that President Nixon will probably add South Vietnam and the Soviet Union to his round-the-world journey. The argument for doing so is fairly obvious.

It would not be easy to explain a presidential trip to the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand, India and Pakistan which avoided the main area of American concern in that part of the world, in Vietnam, or a stop in Romania on the Soviet border which ignored the Soviet Union on the eve of the critical U.S. talks on the control of military armaments.

The President has started the delicate process of withdrawing American military forces from the Vietnam battlefield. This means that some soldiers are going home while others have to stay and fight for a policy which has excluded military victory. This is an awkward situation both for the American command and the government in Saigon, and it is not easy for the President to fly over the area without stopping off at Camranh Bay or some other comparatively safe corner of the battlefield to show his interest, if not to explain his policy.

Similarly, he has taken two decisions recently which are bound to arrest the interest if not the suspicion of Soviet officials. He has chosen to go to Romania, which is trying to hold the balance between Moscow and Peking, and the day before he left for the Pacific, he authorized an announcement that he was trying to ease the tensions between Washington and Peking.

This would be logical if it were a preliminary to a talk with the Soviet leaders along the way. The President obviously does not want to take sides in the dangerous conflict between the Soviet Union and Communist China. He is trying to strike a balance between the two; to make peace in Vietnam, which means avoiding the hostility of either Peking or Moscow; to get an agreement with the Soviet Union on the control of the world arms race; and to make his way through this tangle without infuriating the Chinese. This is the President's problem and his trip around the world forces him to choose his announcements and his stops very carefully.

He cannot announce where he is going. He has security poblems, even in a comparatively secure naval base like Camranh Bay in South Vietnam. He has difficult political problems if he goes to Romania without seeing the Russians, or even if he does.

Accordingly, the White House is putting out itineraries for the President and Mrs. Nixon in the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand, India, Pakistan, and Romania, but saying nothing about what detours they may make on the side. The official briefings are full of details about the President's dates and dinners, Mrs. Nixon's visits to hospitals and children's clinics in Manila, Jakarta, Bangkok, New Delhi, Lahore and Bucharest; but if this is really a serious journey to deal with serious problems, as it is being advertised in Washington, obviously something is missing.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Extended Ritual Or Grief Period Not Necessary Today

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "One hears about the high jinks of merry widows, but what about merry widowers? Mom passed on just six months ago, but this hasn't stopped Dad. I'm not exaggerating when I say he's dated a dozen different widows and spinsters the past two months. I don't expect him to sit around moping or observe a two-year period of grief as in the old days. But doesn't his eagerness for romantic adventures seem in bad taste?"

A. — Not necessarily. We live in a more realistic and permissive world than our forefathers. There is merit in a philosophy which reasons that an extended ritual of grief won't bring back the departed, that life is short, and we should do what comes naturally. One should also consider the fact that if a couple was unusually devoted, the departed would probably prefer to see the survivor making the best of things and enjoying himself rather than observing a fixed and artificial period of mourning.

Q. — "It upsets me that what was considered dreadful years ago is often considered quite all right today. When I was young only a very bad woman would wear lipstick and eyepaint, or wear a dress or bathing suit above her knees. But today garish makeup, mini-skirts, and bikinis are worn by everyone from society matrons to presidential daughters. I'm a Catholic and was taught not to eat meat on Friday or go to church without my head covered. Now those customs have been tossed out as silly. Isn't it possible lots of things we currently consider sacred will be considered foolish one of these days?"

A. — Quite possible. It's extremely difficult for older people to adjust to social and religious transitions. But we've got to expand our horizons and accept changes as they come or we'll be left in the dust of man's progress. Flexibility and a willingness to accept change are youthful qualities which older people should try to adopt. Unless we can bend like willows, we'll snap and break like ancient, inflexible oaks in the hurricanes of change.

Q. — "What's happening in literature? I love to read and for years have prided myself on reading all the national best sellers. But lately nearly half these books are simply shocking and one wonders what's happened to the ethics of publishers. I used to think Bennett Cerf was a fine man but now that he's published the repulsive 'Portnoy's Complaint' it's clear he's trafficking in filth like the worst of them. What can decent Americans do?"

A. — Not much. Society is currently undergoing a revolution of permissiveness based on new interpretattions of the free speech portions of our Constitution. Since the Supreme Court has approved this new literary freedom there's nothing now which can't be put into print. I suspect that people will get tired of erotic literature soon. We can hasten that day by refusing to buy eroticism when we see it at the bookshop.

Hercules Plane May Sight Apollo First

Aboard USS Hornet (AP) — The first members of the Apollo 11 recovery force to sight the earthbound spacecraft Thursday probably will be the crew of a high-flying Air Force HC130 Hercules.

The crew, flying some 165 miles uprange of this prime recovery ship, may see Apollo 11 first as a glowing comet in a sky just beginning to show the pinkness of dawn.

Soon after that, Apollo 11 should begin leaving white contrails in the sky.

Special electronic equipment aboard the aircraft will track Apollo 11 to its splashdown point some 1,150 miles southwest of Honolulu.

The HC130, dubbed Hawaii Rescue One, will be prepared to cover any contingency landing of the spacecraft away from the prime recovery ship.

Hawaii Rescue One, commanded by Maj. Maury A. Franklin, 34, Omaha, Neb., and a sister ship, called Hawaii Rescue Two, carry three pararsecuemen who could jump to the aid of the lunar astronauts.

Hawaii Rescue Two will be airborne 165 miles downrange.

U.S. Hands Over Mekong Delta Base To S. Vietnamese

Saigon (AP) — The United States took another step Wednesday in reducing its combat commitment in South Vietnam, handing over a Mekong Delta base to South Vietnam's 7th Division.

Fire Support Base Moore at Cai Lay, 45 miles southwest of Saigon, is being abandoned by the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division. About 7,400 men of the 1st Brigade will begin leaving for Hawaii in a week.

In all, 25,000 U.S. soldiers and Marines will have left the war in Vietnam by the end of August. Some soldiers of the 9th Division already have returned to the United States, and when the pullout is completed 11,400 will have left.

The 9th's 1st Brigade has seen plenty of combat with the Viet Cong in the rice paddies, streams and canals of the Mekong Delta.

The 7th Vietnamese Division is the main one assigned to continue the battle in the Mekong Delta as South Vietnam gradually assumes greater combat responsibility with modern U.S. arms and fire support.

The U.S. 9th Division's 3rd Brigade, which is staying in Vietnam, was involved in one of the few fights reported as the lull persisted along the battlefronts.

A patrol from the 3rd Brigade ambushed two sampans on a river 22 miles southwest of Saigon, and reported killing six Viet Cong. There were no U.S. casualties.

In another action, American Division troops found a Viet Cong tunnel complex near Duc Pho, 320 miles northeast of Saigon, and blew it up with grenades. They found 11 enemy bodies.

U.S. 25th Division troops and helicopter gunners killed eight enemy in a clash near Duc Hoa, about 18 miles northwest of Saigon. Helicopter gunships of the 1st Air Cavalry Division claimed five more enemy dead near An Loc, 60 miles north of the capital.

Kitten's Name Needs Change

Louisville (AP) — When the John Warner family acquired a kitten, they named it "Cleopatra."

It turned out they had guessed wrong so the pet's name was changed to "Cleopatrick."

DOWNTOWN & GATEWAY

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

As usual, only more so, London is packed with tourists. An English hotel man said: "As a hotel proprietor I shouldn't grumble. But as a citizen with a great affection for my city, it's bloody awful."

Tourist business is now England's number one source of outside money. (It used to be Scotch and motor cars.)

Tourist money is the best kind. You don't have to manufacture anything. You don't have to sell it. You don't have to ship it.

"They just bring in the money and leave it here."

☆ ☆ ☆

The great heat wave is on from Land's End to John O'Groats — "83 degrees on the Air Ministry roof," said the radio announcer.

"Why go to Majorca?" asked the morning paper triumphantly.

England's weather generally is so chill and miserable a week of sun is something for the record books.

On a bright Sunday morning we took the moppets down to see the famous Changing of the Guard. The toy soldier march in bearskin hats and scarlet tunics.

Sad to say, we couldn't get within a block. Every tourist in London had the same idea.

"Blast it!" I said. "You used to be able to get right outside the Palace railings."

☆ ☆ ☆

The "Come to Britain" ads continue to pour more people on the tight little isle.

The hotel man said: "Don't ever quote me, but there just isn't room for the number of people."

Restaurant men admit that service is poor. (I've been to three of my favorite restaurants and it's sad.)

He said: "Suppose you had a lovely country home of ten bedrooms, and you entertained weekend house guests. The word got around how pleasant it was and you began having house guests during the week as well.

"Now somebody convinces you that house guests are good for you — perhaps they tip your maids who spend money in the village. Thus letting villagers buy more of your strawberries.

"So you invite MORE house guests.

"Now they must double up. Sleep in the wood shed. They can't enjoy the garden. It's too crowded. They can't get meals on time because the kitchen isn't big enough to cook for them.

"You can't get a meal yourself. In your own house. And all your house guests complain about how good it USED to be."

☆ ☆ ☆

To fill the employment rolls, Britain imports from the low pay countries. Hotel maids are Irish. Waiters are Spanish and Italian.

The antique English waiter is going — or becoming a frustrated head waiter.

In wonderful old Rule's in Maiden Lane, the chef came out out of the kitchen to say hello — I've known him and written about Rule's for years.

He said: "I visited your country last year — Fort Lauderdale in Florida. I learned a great deal, a great deal.

"The service was excellent. We'll never get service like that in this country again."

☆ ☆ ☆

In Trader Vic's I ran into Chan from San Francisco. He said: "We use all Chinese waiters from Hong Kong. You must be fair, pay them well and stay on top of the situation ALL THE TIME!"

The place was running full. The service and food were excellent. Even so, Chan had been sent in for an inspection tour. Trader Vic, the Big Brother of Cosmos Place, is watching you.

Senators Rebuff Ballot Date Change

The Legislature Wednesday rebuffed 3-13 a bid by Sen. Theodore C. Wenzlaff of Sutton to reconsider a Tuesday decision to forego a committee hearing on a bill changing from November to May of next year the time for submission of a constitutional amendment.

At issue was Omaha Sen. Eugene T. Mahoney's LB1421, proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to make grants for the benefit of students enrolled in nonpublic schools, to help pay their tuition.

Sen. Wenzlaff said he believed the Legislature acted hastily.

Few voters turn out for primary elections, Wenzlaff asserted, so it should be voted on when the greatest number turn out.

Sen. Mahoney said he was just proposing an earlier election date so financial determinations could be made earlier by schools affected.

State Spending Showdown Scheduled

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Showdown decisions on state spending are scheduled to face Nebraska lawmakers Thursday.

Those determinations, in turn, will have a direct effect on state tax rates.

Two of the 1969 Legislature's premier bills — the largest "spending" measures other than the two regular budget bills — are slated for final reading along with a number of other major pieces of legislation.

LB1425, the much-debated and heavily-amended capital construction appropriations bill, now carrying a pricetag of almost $26 million in new appropriations, is headed for an uncertain fate.

Foes Content

Opponents of the spending package appeared content late Wednesday to put the bill to a showdown vote rather than attempt to move the measure back for amendments reducing its appropriations impact.

If the bill fails to receive 25 affirmative votes, it would then be subject to a motion to reconsider and amend.

Earlier plans to attempt to amend the bill prior to a final reading vote were tentatively abandoned subject to an overnight change of mind.

Big Addition

Some $11,253,400 in new appropriations were added to the Budget Committee's recommendations when LB1425 underwent initial floor debate.

Almost all of that, some $10,335,000 would go to the University of Nebraska.

Previous efforts to remove floor additions for NU failed by a whisker.

Mental Patient Costs

The other premier proposal, LB286, provides that state government would assume about 75% of the public costs of mental patient care, costs now borne by county governments.

That measure could cost the state an estimated $18 million or more per biennium once the 75% factor is fully operative.

Costs for the current biennium would be $6,196,656, according to estimates prepared for Sen. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson, chief sponsor of LB286.

18 Months Behind

Counties are now about 18 months behind schedule in their payments to the state for patient care, and thus the actual state assumption of costs would not become operative until the last six months of the biennium, Wallwey said.

Counties owe $14,559,769 in billings prior to June, and would be responsible for another $1,050,000 for that month, the last month in the past biennium.

Under present law, counties are billed for the full costs of care beyond the financial ability of patients and their families.

Terry To Seek Disclosure Of Welfare Recipients, Aid

Sen. Terry Carpenter said Wednesday that as a result of a meeting with constituents Tuesday night, he plans introduction of a bill in the Legislature to provide for public disclosure of the names of welfare recipients and the amount of aid they receive.

The Scottsbluff lawmaker said that many of the estimated 350 persons who accepted his invitation to meet with him in Scottsbluff were disturbed about welfare programs.

"They wanted to know who is getting the money, and how much," Carpenter said.

Carpenter said there is question whether federal law or regulations will permit publication of names and amount, but that as a direct result of the Tuesday night meeting, he will introduce a legislative bill calling for just such disclosure.

Carpenter also revealed he will offer for introduction Thursday a bill which would make certain that if and when the state board of equalization raises a county's property valuation for tax purposes, the mill levies will be lowered accordingly so as to yield the dollars originally envisioned. This would forestall any instance where a municipality or educational service unti or other subdivision certifies to the county board the mill levy it needs, and then enjoys a windfall because valuations are subsequently increased without a comparable lowering of mill levies.

Adjournment Move Nixed

The Legislature Wednesday defeated a move by State Sen. William Skarda of Omaha to have the Unicameral adjourn for good Aug. 2.

The vote against adjournment was 26-10.

Skarda told the lawmakers it was "time to call a screaming halt" to the lengthy legislative session."

He said he didn't think the Legislature would be able to clear its calendar in 30 days.

State Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland said the Unicameral should "keep going like we are."

He said work could be completed by the end of August.

State Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha said the public wasn't responsible for the large number of measures still pending

"The general public didn't introduce those bills, they are our own creation," he said, calling for adjournment.

Instruction For Unwed Mothers Axed By Solons

The Legislature Wednesday killed on an 18-8 vote a bill which would have required academic instruction courses for unmarried pregnant girls or unmarried mothers.

The bill, LB535, was sponsored by Sen. Florence Reynolds of Omaha.

Advanced 32-0 was another of Sen. Reynolds bills, LB534, which details what color lights shall be used on emergency and other vehicles which use flashing or identification lights on their roofs.

One effect of the amended LB534 is to require amber lights on the vehicles of rural mail carriers.

An amendment by Sen. Pedersen makes it illegal to use back-up lights except for backing up.

Student Councils Should Extend Involvement Past Dances: Administrators

High school student councils have been organized for the convenience of the administration to get some jobs done around a school, a principal admitted to some 200 youths attending a leadership conference here.

However, the student council members have not been people agitating for a change, Omaha Westside principal Kenneth Hansen pointed out.

While school administrations have tended to organize student councils in a way limiting its ability to function, the students themselves have been primarily interested in arranging social activities, he said.

Hansen, who made his remarks during a panel presentation at the Nebraska Association for Student Councils leadership conference Wednesday, said he thought students ought to have more control over extracurricular activities and "get involved" in things other than planning parties and dances.

At Westside, Hansen told the youths, student council eligibility requirements of having a certain grade average and faculty approval for membership have been eliminated so that the student body is more truly represented.

"Student councils should work cooperatively with the administration to help create the best learning environment in a school," according to Seward principal Harvey Hoffman.

That means "students need to be involved in curriculum change," Hoffman declared.

A student questioner asked how schools could guide learning without "shackling" youths to biased opinions.

Lincoln Southeast principal Wesley Lauterbach responded that learning is becoming more self-directed and individualized. But even if a teacher, as he points out alternatives to issues, does tell what he thinks is right, it doesn't necessarily pollute the learning," Lauterbach said.

Omaha Burke vice principal Richard Cotton blasted the news media for "irresponsibility" in reporting that some 46% of Omaha students have used drugs. Cotton declared that "it would surprise me if more than a handful of our 1,600 students had even experimented with drugs."

Also appearing on the panel was Wymore Supt. Dale Siefkes.

Students will conclude the four-day leadership conference Thursday with a presentation on the Peace Corps.

Citizenship Urged For Apollo Crew

Caracas, Venezuela (AP)—The newspaper El Nacional proposed Wednesday that all the countries of the world grant citizenship to astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins.

The three astronauts "brought to mind, in one shining moment, the fraternal condition of mankind," it said.

Driving Class Given

Washington (UPI) — The Navy said it will begin a safe driving class for all active personnel. The course, first in any of the armed services, will take about three years to teach to the 770,000 personnel now on active duty.

State Must Supplement U.S. Meat Check, Schlaphoff Says

State Agriculture Director Elmer Schlaphoff has reminded the Legislature that intrastate food products not covered by federal inspection are being consumed by Nebraska citizens.

The memorandum prepared for Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha, relating to the controversial meat inspection bill, LB1367, said the federal government will not assume the full job of inspection.

Neither the federal wholesome meat act nor the wholesome poultry act contemplates complete federal take-over without state participation, Schlaphoff said.

Detailing steps initiated by his office since he assumed the directorship, Schlaphoff said the efforts have met with the cry on the one hand that "we are being too strict and moving too fast, and the opposite cry that we are not moving fast enough."

Slaughterhouses Only

The present Nebraska slaughterhouse law provides for the licensing and inspection of slaughterhouses only, the memorandum pointed out. It is not applicable to red meat processors and manufacturers of red meat products. Nor does it cover poultry slaughtering, processing, or the manufacture of poultry products, Schlaphoff noted.

The director urged the unicameral not to delay action on LB1367 while awaiting passage of proposed congressional legislation amending the wholesome meat act.

Passage of the federal bills would make state inspection even more necessary since they provide for exemption of establishments doing under $250,000 of business per year, the memorandum noted.

Accomplishments

Schlaphoff said LB1367 would accomplish the following:

—Fill voids now existing in state slaughterhouse law.

—Give the director authority to bring under inspection all animals and animal products entering commercial channels for human consumption or inedible product use.

—Allow the state to enter into a cooperative agreement with the federal government on a comprehensive inspection program.

From the standpoint of economy and uniform inspection, LB1367 would make it possible to integrate federal and state inspection staffs into one inspection program, the memorandum said.

LB1367 was killed in the Legislature July 8, but was resurrected the following day when Sen. William F. Wylie of Elgin explained to his colleagues that the federal government would require plants engaged in meat production for consumption within the state to bring their plants up to federal standards by this coming Dec. 15.

Mayor Favors Extra Revenue Use Of City Tax

Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Wednesday he favors the city's adopting a one-half cent city sales tax now but which would become effective July 1, 1970.

Mayor Schwartzkopf said that the sales tax should be used to get extra revenue during the 1970-71 fiscal year.

"The money would be used to pay for needed capital improvements," he said.

Lincoln Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis suggested during a recent budget hearing that the city use a one-half cent tax during the 1969-70 fiscal year to pay for storm sewer needs.

Council members decided to consider the suggestion.

13 Persons Charged In Mafia-Tied Scandal

New York (AP) — Thirteen persons were under indictment Wednesday on federal charges the FBI said involved a 20% kickback to the underworld in return for a $1 million loan from the scandal-tainted Teamsters Union pension fund.

The FBI described five of the defendants as Cosa Nostra big shots, who were said to have quarreled at one time while raking in $200,000 in kickback spoils. An "arbitration" meeting straightened things out.

It was the latest of half a dozen indictments through which the government has sought to link the mob and the multimillion-dollar Teamsters pension fund. In Washington, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover called it a severe blow to the Cosa Nostra in New York, Pennsylvania and Detroit.

Names Familiar

Once again there were familiar names in this indictment. There was James "Jimmy Doyle" Plumeri, 66, described in this and other indictments as having a financial pipeline to the Teamsters' treasury. There was Salvatore "Sally Burns" Granello, 46, depicted as Plumeri's go-between in arranging the kickback.

And there was David Wenger, 57, a one-time caretaker for the pension fund who was named in this and prior indictments as the underworld's contact man within the union in arranging loans for a share of the kickbacks.

Also figuring in this and previous indictments was John Keilly, 40, a New York mortgage broker, said to have worked with Plumeri.

Plumeri has been identified publicly as a ranking member of the New York Cosa Nostra family headed by the late Thomas "Three Finger Brown" Luchese. He is an uncle of labor racketeer Johnny Dio, who long has had close ties with the Teamsters Union.

Burns has been linked by the FBI with the late Vito Genovese's New York Cosa Nostra family.

Itkin Testifies

Again, the government apparently based its case on grand jury testimony from Herbert Itkin, a key figure in a reservoir kickback case which sent former New York City water commissioner James L. Marcus to prison. Itkin has described himself as an FBI undercover man in the crime syndicate.

The latest indictment concerned efforts to obtain a Teamster loan for the Mid-City Development Corp., a Detroit real estate firm which owns an industrial complex in that area.

The FBI accused the other 12 defendants of offering Wenger a share in the $200,000 kickback in the summer of 1964 in return for his aid in obtaining the loan. He was described as custodian at the time of the Teamsters Central States, Southeast and Southwest areas pension fund, with headquarters in Chicago. He now is a New York City accountant.

Loan Sought

In New York, Asst. U.S. Atty. James W. Brannigan Jr. said Mid-City originally sought a $1,250,000 loan through underworld connections in Detroit. Then the firm was told it could have only $1,076,000. Mid-City was said to have appealed to the New York Cosa Nostra.

This so upset the Detroit group, Brannigan continued, that it was necessary to hold an arbitration meeting of all the defendants in Pittsburgh, where they were to divide up the $200,000 kickback.

Meanwhile, Mid-City was said to have settled for the $1 million loan.

Specific charges against the 13 defendants included conspiracy, violation of the union welfare and pension plans disclosure act, and violation of federal antiracketeering laws.

Conviction carries a maximum penalty for each defendant of five years in federal prison and a $10,000 fine for each violation.

Juan Carlos Swears To Uphold Franco System

Madrid (AP) — Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon, who one day will be king of Spain, solemnly swore Wednesday night to be loyal always to the system built by Gen. Francisco Franco in 30 years as the nation's leader.

The 31-year-old prince, standing before an extraordinary session of the Cortes, Spain's parliament, vowed: "Yes, I swear loyalty to his excellency the chief of state and fidelity to the principles of the National Movement and other fundamental laws of the kingdom."

With this oath, Juan Carlos become Prince of Spain, a new title, and a king-to-be, fulfilling a plan launched more than two decades ago by the 76-year-old generalissimo.

High on the dais of the Cortes, Franco watched impassively as the prince took the oath.

Spanish nobility stood by in force, including Princess Sophie of Greece, wife of Juan Carlos and sister of King Constantine of Greece. Many of the 2,167 aristocratic titleholders of Roman Catholic Spain stood enthralled and enthusiastic.

"I want to serve my country in the normal channel of public function and I want for our people progress, development, unity, justice, liberty and grandeur," he said in his acceptance speech. "And this only will be possible if domestic peace is maintained."

Senate Tempers Flare Over ABM Proposal

Washington (UPI) — A new attempt to find a common ground between backers and opponents of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system fell through Wednesday in a bitter exchange on the Senate floor.

Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., squared off against Sens. John Tower, R-Tex., and George Murphy, R-Calif., in one of the most heated discussions since the debate began two weeks ago.

Glaring at Murphy across the chamber, Hart demanded to know why Murphy supported the old Sentinel ABM system of the Johnson administration and was now backing the completely altered Safeguard program of the ABM.

Right Or Wrong?

"Were you right or wrong?" Hart asked, his voice rising.

"I think I was right," Murphy barked through a microphone.

"Well, if you were right last year, why don't you move to abandon the Safeguard and substitute Sentinel . . .?" Hart demanded.

"There is a new man in charge this year," Murphy shot back.

"I hope the Senate will take charge this year," Hart said.

Hart and Cooper introduced a revised amendment to the $20 billion defense procurement bill in an effort to convince administration forces that the differences between them were only of passing significance. The amendment would ban deployment during the next fiscal year but permit continuation of ABM procurement, research and development.

Cooper Walks Out

Finally, Cooper angrily left the floor after a bristling exchange with Murphy over the Californian's comparison of pending arms control negotiations with the British-German meeting at Munich before World War II.

Winnings Of Miss Nude America To Include Extensive Wardrobe

Naked, City, Ind. (AP) — The first "Miss Nude America" will be picked Aug. 2 at Naked City, one of the nation's oldest resorts where people go to get tanned all over.

Dick Drost, 33, proprietor of the 36-year-old nudist camp about 40 miles southeast of Chicago, says he hopes for 50 contestants representing every state. Only 25 entries had been received Wednesday.

Drost, who became a nudist on his doctor's advice because of muscular dystrophy, soaks up ultraviolet rays from the sun as he operates the camp from an electric wheelchair.

He contends that the only true beauty contest has to be a nude contest.

"In a nude contest you have a true beauty contest in the same sense that the early Greeks and Romans did," Drost said. "Also, with the superstructure that is built into women's bathing suits, you really don't know what they look like."

Drost said Miss Nude America will win a $1,000-trip to a Jamaica resort, a contract for television and radio commercial auditions, a $100 savings bond, an extensive wardrobe, lots of cosmetics and a Naked City one year's membership worth $160.

Naked City, which opened in 1933 as Zoro Nature Park, admits only couples and families.

Food Prices Continue To Climb—At Annual Rate Of 7%

Washington (AP) — The nation's worst inflationary spiral in 18 years quickened in June with a 0.6% rise in living costs, and the government offered little hope Wednesday of any slowdown soon.

The worst news for American consumers was at the grocery store, especially the meat counter, where food prices continued to soar at an annual rate of 7%. Meat, poultry and fish were up 4.5% in one month alone.

"Most other services and commodities also showed increases," including housing, clothing, transportation and medical care, said Assistant Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Index Up to 127.6

The over-all rise in living costs, nearly half of it caused by soaring food prices, boosted the Labor Department's consumer price index to 127.6.

This showed it cost $12.76 last month for every $10 worth of typical family living expenses in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based. The increase for June was 8 cents on every $10 worth.

The bureau also reported that 45 million rank-and-file workers averaged record high paychecks of $115.06 a week in June, a gain of 46 cents in purchasing power despite rising prices. But their buying power was down 38 cents in the past year because of higher prices and taxes.

Food Prices Leap

Grocery prices leaped 1.7% in June and 3.5% in the past six months — double the rate of food price hikes last year.

"Round steak cost $1.33½ a pound in June, an all-time high, and was 20 cents a pound higher than a year ago," Chase said.

"Chuck roast was 73.7 cents a pound, the highest since 1952, up 11 cents in a year. Fresh tomatoes were 48.2 cents a pound, 10.3 cents higher over the year."

Up 3.2% In Half Year

The June index of over-all living costs was up 3.2% in the first half of this year, nearly 1% more than the rise in the first half of 1968.

If the price spiral continues at the same pace through 1969, the annual rate would be 6.4%, more than one-third higher than last year's 4.7% hike.

While food was the biggest factor in the June price hikes, housing rose 0.4%, clothing 0.3%, transportation and medical care 0.5% each, and recreation 0.2%.

I have an 11-year-old youngster described as "emotionally disturbed" by our physician. I was informed the child can't return to his regular school in the fall. I remember a recent article in The Star about a special school for this type of child. Where do I begin? —Worried Mother

Are ministers' credentials issued by the Universal Life Church, Inc. of Modesto, Calif., legal in Nebraska? This church claims its license empowers the holder to legally perform baptisms, weddings, funerals, etc. in all states. —K.T., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: State Statute 42-108 reads: "Every . . . preacher of the gospel authorized by the usages of the church to which he belongs to solemnize marriages, may perform the marriage ceremony in this state." Baptisms, funerals and ordination, for examples, are individual matters with regulations set by the individual's faith and creed. If this particular minister's credentials are authorized by your church's recognized regulations, he is then legally recognized in Nebraska by law.

I recently moved to Lincoln and I feel motorists who park incorrectly are not considerate of others. I live on a busy street and cars parked here take up two unmarked parking spaces. Some have been here for ten days. —A.T., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: City law provides an auto cannot remain on a public street in one place longer than 24 hours. As for taking up two unmarked parking spaces, there is no ordinance prohibiting this action as long as the vehicle is parked in proper relationship to the curb.

Please settle a point: When was musk thistle first found in Nebraska and where did it come from? —M.W., Crete

ACTION LINE: Musk thistle has been found in the U.S. for more than 50 years. In the early 1900s it was listed as a weed in the east and westward to Iowa, having come from Europe where it was grown as an ornamental. In 1932 it was identified in Iowa and that same year a specimen was brought to a field day in Seward County for identification. None of the extensive plant collections made in Nebraska during the late 20s and early 30s contain specimens of the species. However, musk thistle was found near Dawson in 1940-41.

In the mid-1940's certain plumeless thistles were identified in northwest Nebraska. Scattered reports indicate that sometime around 1945-50 musk thistle emerged as a weed species of economic importance. By 1959 it was such a pest in eastern Nebraska that the Nebraska Legislature declared it a noxious weed.

Here is my situation: I am military and a resident of another state. I will be going overseas, but my wife will be staying in Nebraska with her parents. Will I need to get Nebraska plates under these conditions? —E.J.B., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: No, says Lancaster County Treasurer's office, motor vehicle department, as long as the vehicle is properly registered in your state of residence.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

The familiar itching nose and watering eyes of hay fever are about to appear again. Where does it come from? The most frequent cause of seasonal hay fever is the ragweek pollen that drifts into the air in late summer and fall.

But hay fever can occur all year 'round. Other plant pollen may cause hay fever in the spring and summer. Hay fever that lasts all year may also be due to house dust, animal hair, or other, similar airborne particles.

A series of injections may help reduce your sensitivity to pollen or other agents. Certain medicines often decrease the severity of hay fever symptoms. Your doctor may recommend ways to remove pollen from the air in your home.

Citizens Opposing Zone Amendments

. . . ARGUE RESALE, TAXES

City Council chambers Wednesday was almost half-filled with citizens objecting items before the City-County Planning Commission.

Among the items drawing opposition was a special permit for St. Elizabeth Hospital allowing eight St. Francis nuns to live in a single family house at 59th and Garfield.

Also on the agenda was a zoning ordinance amendment permitting unrelated persons to live together in a single house if members of a religious order.

Present ordinances permit only two unrelated persons to live together in a single family district residence. Bruce Wright, an attorney representing the objectors, said the area citizens object to unrelated persons living together in a residence, including religious order members.

Resale Effect

Wright said real estate men told him that if the proposed home were occupied by the nuns other homes in the area would suffer a resale effect.

Several residents told planning commissioners the residence would decrease the value of their property.

Wright said citizens wanted to keep a "family-type" neighborhood and had bought their homes with a restrictive covenant to keep the neighborhood that way.

Hansen Says No

Atty. Richard Hansen, speaking for St. Elizabeth, asserted the residence would not have an adverse effect upon the neighborhood.

A proposal by Lincoln Securities Co. to develop 80 acres of rural land for residential use also drew fire from people living in that area.

The firm had requested a county change of zone from AA Rural to A Residential on property west of Hwy. 77 at the Turnpike Rd.

Mark Steinhausen, who served as spokesman for the 20 persons protesting the zone change, said the chief objection was "the likely increase in school taxes that would occur because of the residential development."

Area Depressed

Steinhausen, a dairy farmer, said the influx would put a greater burden on the already depressed agricultural area.

Residents in the Rokeby school district have a 17.38 mill levy. The local schoolhouse handles children from kindergarten through sixth grade.

Bill Beckman, representing Lincoln Securities Co., said the firm would install a private sewage disposal plant and provide water services to the area.

Planning Director Douglas Brogden has recommended denial of the application.

Large Population

Brogden said in his report to the commission that development of the 80 acres at the proposed density would result in a population between 600 to 800.

He said the development would encourage urban sprawl well into rural portions of the county.

Other items which received opposition were a change of zone from B Two Family Dwelling to K Light Industry on 30 lots on the north side of Y between 30th and 33rd Sts. and a proposed parking lot at 48th and Normal.

A public hearing was held on the following items:

—Change of zone, from H-2 Highway Commercial to K Light Industry on property located on south side of West Cornhusker at NW 7th St., requested by Smith, Kline & French Laboratories.

—Change of zone, from H-2 Highway Commercial to K Light Industry on property located north of Cornhusker Hwy. near 36th St., requested by Donald Buls and his wife.

—Change of zone, from A-2 Single Family to K Light Industry on property between P and Q Sts. at Brookside Dr., requested by Lincoln Equipment Co.

—Change of zone, from B Two Family, A-2 Single Family and local Business to I Commercial on Property between Meredeth and Lowell and 46th and 47th Sts., requested by Ned Saunders.

—Change of zone, from G Local Business to A-2 Single Family on northwest corner of W. Van Dorn and So. Coddington, requested by S. E. Copple.

—Special permit, for rearrangement of trailer court at 60th and Platte Ave., requested by John Loos Jr.

—Special permit, to construct parking lot at 66th and Starr Sts., requested by Lloyd Hinkley.

—Preliminary plat, Green Acres, W. Van Dorn and So. Coddington.

—Preliminary and final plat, 14th and Benton and Hartley Sts.

—Final plat, Capitol Beach Manor 5th Add., Salt Lake and West S St.

Dixon Represents National Realtors Before Congress

Washington (AP) — The National Association of Real Estate Boards urged Congress Wednesday to bolster the hard-pressed housing mortgage market by broadening the scope of the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA).

Speaking for the real estate organization, Don L. Dixon, Lincoln, Neb., told the House subcommittee on housing that FNMA should be allowed to deal in conventional loans as well as those insured by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration.

Dixon also supported legislation for creating a mass transit fund to be used to develop urban transit systems.

Philip N. Brownstein, former federal housing commissioner appearing for the Council of Housing Producers, called for an increase in mortgage limits on government-assisted purchase of housing by low-income families.

WALTER REUTHER

Reuther Says Nixon Failing To Meet Nation's Woes

Detroit (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther Wednesday charged the Nixon administration was "trying to face all major directions on all major issues" and was "failing to come to grips" with the nation's problems.

In a rare and wide-ranging news conference, the fiery UAW chief also sided with the militant youth movement while deploring violence as "wrong and nonproductive."

Summoning reporters to Solidarity House, the glass and marble union headquarters nestled on the north bank of the Detroit River, Reuther made good a promise given newsmen last spring to make himself more available for questions.

While assessing President Nixon as "a man of some political experience and competence," Reuther blasted the six-month-old administration on a host of issues ranging from inflation to health care.

"Mr. Nixon has said all the right things, for example, as far as the diagnosis of what's wrong with the nation's health care programs," Reuther said.

"But having diagnosed the patient as critical, he prescribes a box of Band-aids and three bottles of aspirin when the patient needs major surgery. He's trying to face all major directions on all major issues. That's not siund operating policy and I wish he wouldn't do it."

Reuther blamed the "insanity of the arms race and the senseless war in Vietnam" for inflation, urging that money for domestic programs be pulled out of the defense budget "because that's where the big money is."

Reuther, who will be 62 on Labor Day, Sept. 1, said he sides with youngsters who are in "revolt against the status quo."

"I'm for every form of struggle and social protest," he said. "But I don't agree with anyone who uses violence . . . It is wrong and nonproductive."

Auto Registration Fee Increase Not Scuttled

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday rejected a bid to scuttle the proposed $6.50 increase in automobile registration fees, then sent seven more highway bills on their way to final reading.

Nine of the 12 remaining proposals in the highway package have now cleared second stage of floor debate. Included in that group are all the major funding measures.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha fell two votes short of gaining approval for his amendment to eliminate the proposed increase in automobile registration fees.

With 25 votes required for approval, the motion failed on a 23-14 count.

Had it carried, increased funding for construction of highways, roads and streets would have been reduced by an estimated $4,490,000 a year.

Syas said the automobile driver is being asked to carry more than his share of the financing burden.

The proposed increase from $8 to $15.60 represents no more than the cost of a tank of gasoline, Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa noted.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly pointed out once again that elimination of the fee increase would reduce the amount of available revenue needed to meet state, city and county road and street needs over the next 20 years.

Altogether, the highway revenue bills would increase the level of funding by $19.5 million a year, beginning in 1970.

Sen. Orval Keyes of Papillion attempted to substitute for the registration fee hikes proposed in LB1304 an amendment which would increase all automobile and truck fees by 25%, but was rebuffed on a 5-25 vote.

Accepted, on a 27-5 count, was Sen. William Wylie's proposal to reverse Tuesday's action expanding the mileage limits within which local and local commercial truck licensees may operate.

The Wylie amendment returned the local truck limits from 20 to 10 miles outside the city limits, and the local commercial limits from eight to five miles.

Those trucks, Wylie noted, often travel more miles on roads and streets than many commercial trucks which pay much higher registration fees. Local and local commercial trucks would pay 30% of commercial fees under the provisions of LB1304.

Among other highway bills sent to final reading was LB1302, the major classification measure.

Sen. Herb Duis of Gothenburg fell one vote short in attempting to include snow removal in the maintenance cost obligations of the state on its highways within city limits. The count was 24-11.

Panhandle's Plan Funds Seen In '70

Washington (AP) — Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., said he expects the Nebraska Panhandle Aesource Conservation and Development Project will be funded in fiscal 1970.

Martin said he has been informed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that the Panhandle project is among the top five for priority of funding projects under the Soil Conservation Service conservation development program.

Counties covered by the project include Sioux, Scott's Bluff, Banner, Kimball, Dawes, Box Butte, Morrill, Cheyenne, Sheridan, Garden and Deuel.

Extensive Programs

Included in the over-all plan are programs for soil and water conservation, flood protection, highway and land surface improvements, public services, education, health and welfare, historical, cultural and recreational facilities and services.

Approval of federal funding would provide assistance to the area in planning and developing the projects, which would be undertaken by local special districts, communities, counties and the state and federal governments.

By the end of 1968, the number had increased to 220 families of 978 persons owning a total of 57,300 reindeer.

Yutan All Set For Frog Jump

Yutan (AP) — This eastern Nebraska town of 335 will be jumping Saturday as hundreds of bug-eyed frogs invade the community for the first annual Yutan Jumping Frog Rodeo.

The event is being sponsored by the Yutan Volunteer Fire Department and promises to bring out some of the best jumpers in the state.

The competition will all be on the up and up.

Lt. Gov. John Everroad has been named frogmaster and District Judge Rudolph Tesar of Omaha will rule on any disputed results.

Chief among the competitors will be Admiral Nobby III, representing Gov. Norbert Tiemann. Admiral Nobby has been residing on a West Coast lily pad since placing second earlier this year in a governors' jump contest held in conjunction with the Olympics of frog jumping at Calaveras County, Calif.

Admiral Nobby is being flown in for the Yutan event and will have his own quarters at Yutan.

Several state senators have indicated they will enter their jumpers, with the emphasis on Nebraska-breds.

The Strategic Air Command, with headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha, is expected to import a bayou bouncer from Louisiana.

Competition will be in two divisions — juniors from ages 2 through 8 and seniors ages 9 and over.

One of the most serious trainers for the event, which is expected to draw up to 2,500 frog fans, is Scott Crawford, 8, the son of a Yutan volunteer fireman.

Scott and his three brothers have a training camp for about a dozen limber-limbed contestants in a large basin in the family garage.

Those who don't have their own stable will be able to put their silks on a rented contestant. Everroad reported that some 300 leapers will be shipped in from a fish hatchery at Orchard.

STUDENT INVOLVEMENT WORKSHOP SLATED AT NU

Kansas City (AP) — The Mid-Continent Educational Laboratory, Kansas City, plans to stage a workshop session at the University of Nebraska Aug. 13-17 on the question of involving students more deeply in school decisions.

This workshop will involve about eight high schools including Scottsbluff, Millard, Lincoln and Omaha Westside in Nebraska, which will send teams of students, teachers, parents and the school principal to the discussion session.

They will return to their schools and help set up new procedures for reaching a variety of school decisions.

"Instead of trying to call the shots themselves, educators have come to realize that it doesn't reduce their status as adults to accept influence from the young. And regardless of disagreements, young people need to treat adults with the respect that they should show any other person," Dr. Denis Carville, project director said.

The August workshop is part of the laboratory's self-directed learning program, aimed at helping students take more responsibility of their own learning.

The show, with a cast of 45, was created "to remind Americans that the right of dissent is a part of the American tradition . . . (but) a liberty to enjoy, not a license to destroy," according to Hamm president Barry M. Rowles.

Committee Okays Tax Reform Bill

Washington (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee, wrapping up its tax reform bill, approved a "minimum tax" plan Wednesday under which wealthy persons who escape much, if not all taxes, would pay regular rates on at least 50% of their income.

The tentative committee decision, subject to formal confirmation which members said was assured, climaxed a series of committee votes to close or at least narrow various tax loopholes in existing law.

Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., a committee member and House Democratic whip, predicted the committee would complete its decision making Thursday and that a comprehensive reform bill could be sent to the House late next week.

The timing is crucial to enactment of a separate bill, already passed by the House and snagged in the Senate, that would continue the income tax surcharge for another year.

Surtax Said Vital

President Nixon and his economic advisers have said the surtax is vital to the attack on inflation. But Senate Democrats refuse to take up the bill until a tax reform measure has been approved by the Finance Committee and is ready for Senate consideration.

After a meeting of the Senate Democratic policy committee Wednesday, it appeared the Senate impasse might be inching toward a compromise settlement.

Boggs offered the committee-approved minimum tax proposal which is intended to cut into the legal tax preferences granted the wealthy. In 1967, there were 155 persons with incomes of more than $200,000 who paid no taxes at all.

50% Figure Set

Under the plan approved by the committee Wednesday, no more than 50% of gross income — no matter from what source — could be held exempt from tax. The remaining 50% would be taxed at applicable rates.

Interest on tax-exempt bonds would be included in coverage of the minimum tax plan. So would the half of long-range capital gains on which no taxes now are due.

Additional tax collections resulting from the minimum tax plan were estimated by committee sources at $200 million a year.

The committee also gave final approval to reduction of the controversial oil depletion allowance from 27½% to 20%.

Other committee decisions, all tentative, cover revision of tax benefits now enjoyed by foundations, gentleman farmers, utilities, banks and stock speculators.

Rules-Tightened

In other action Wednesday, the committee confirmed an earlier decision to tighten existing rules on charitable contributions in the form of securities and real estate. Present law allows the donor to claim tax credit for the appreciated value of the property involved, without paying a tax on his capital gain. Under the new plan, such donations could be made in this way only to a public charity.

In giving securities or real estate to a private foundation, the committee decided the donor could claim either a tax reduction for the original cost or he could claim the appreciated value and pay a tax on the gain.

In the case of gifts of tangible personal property, such as works of art, the same rule would apply, no matter to whom the donation is made.

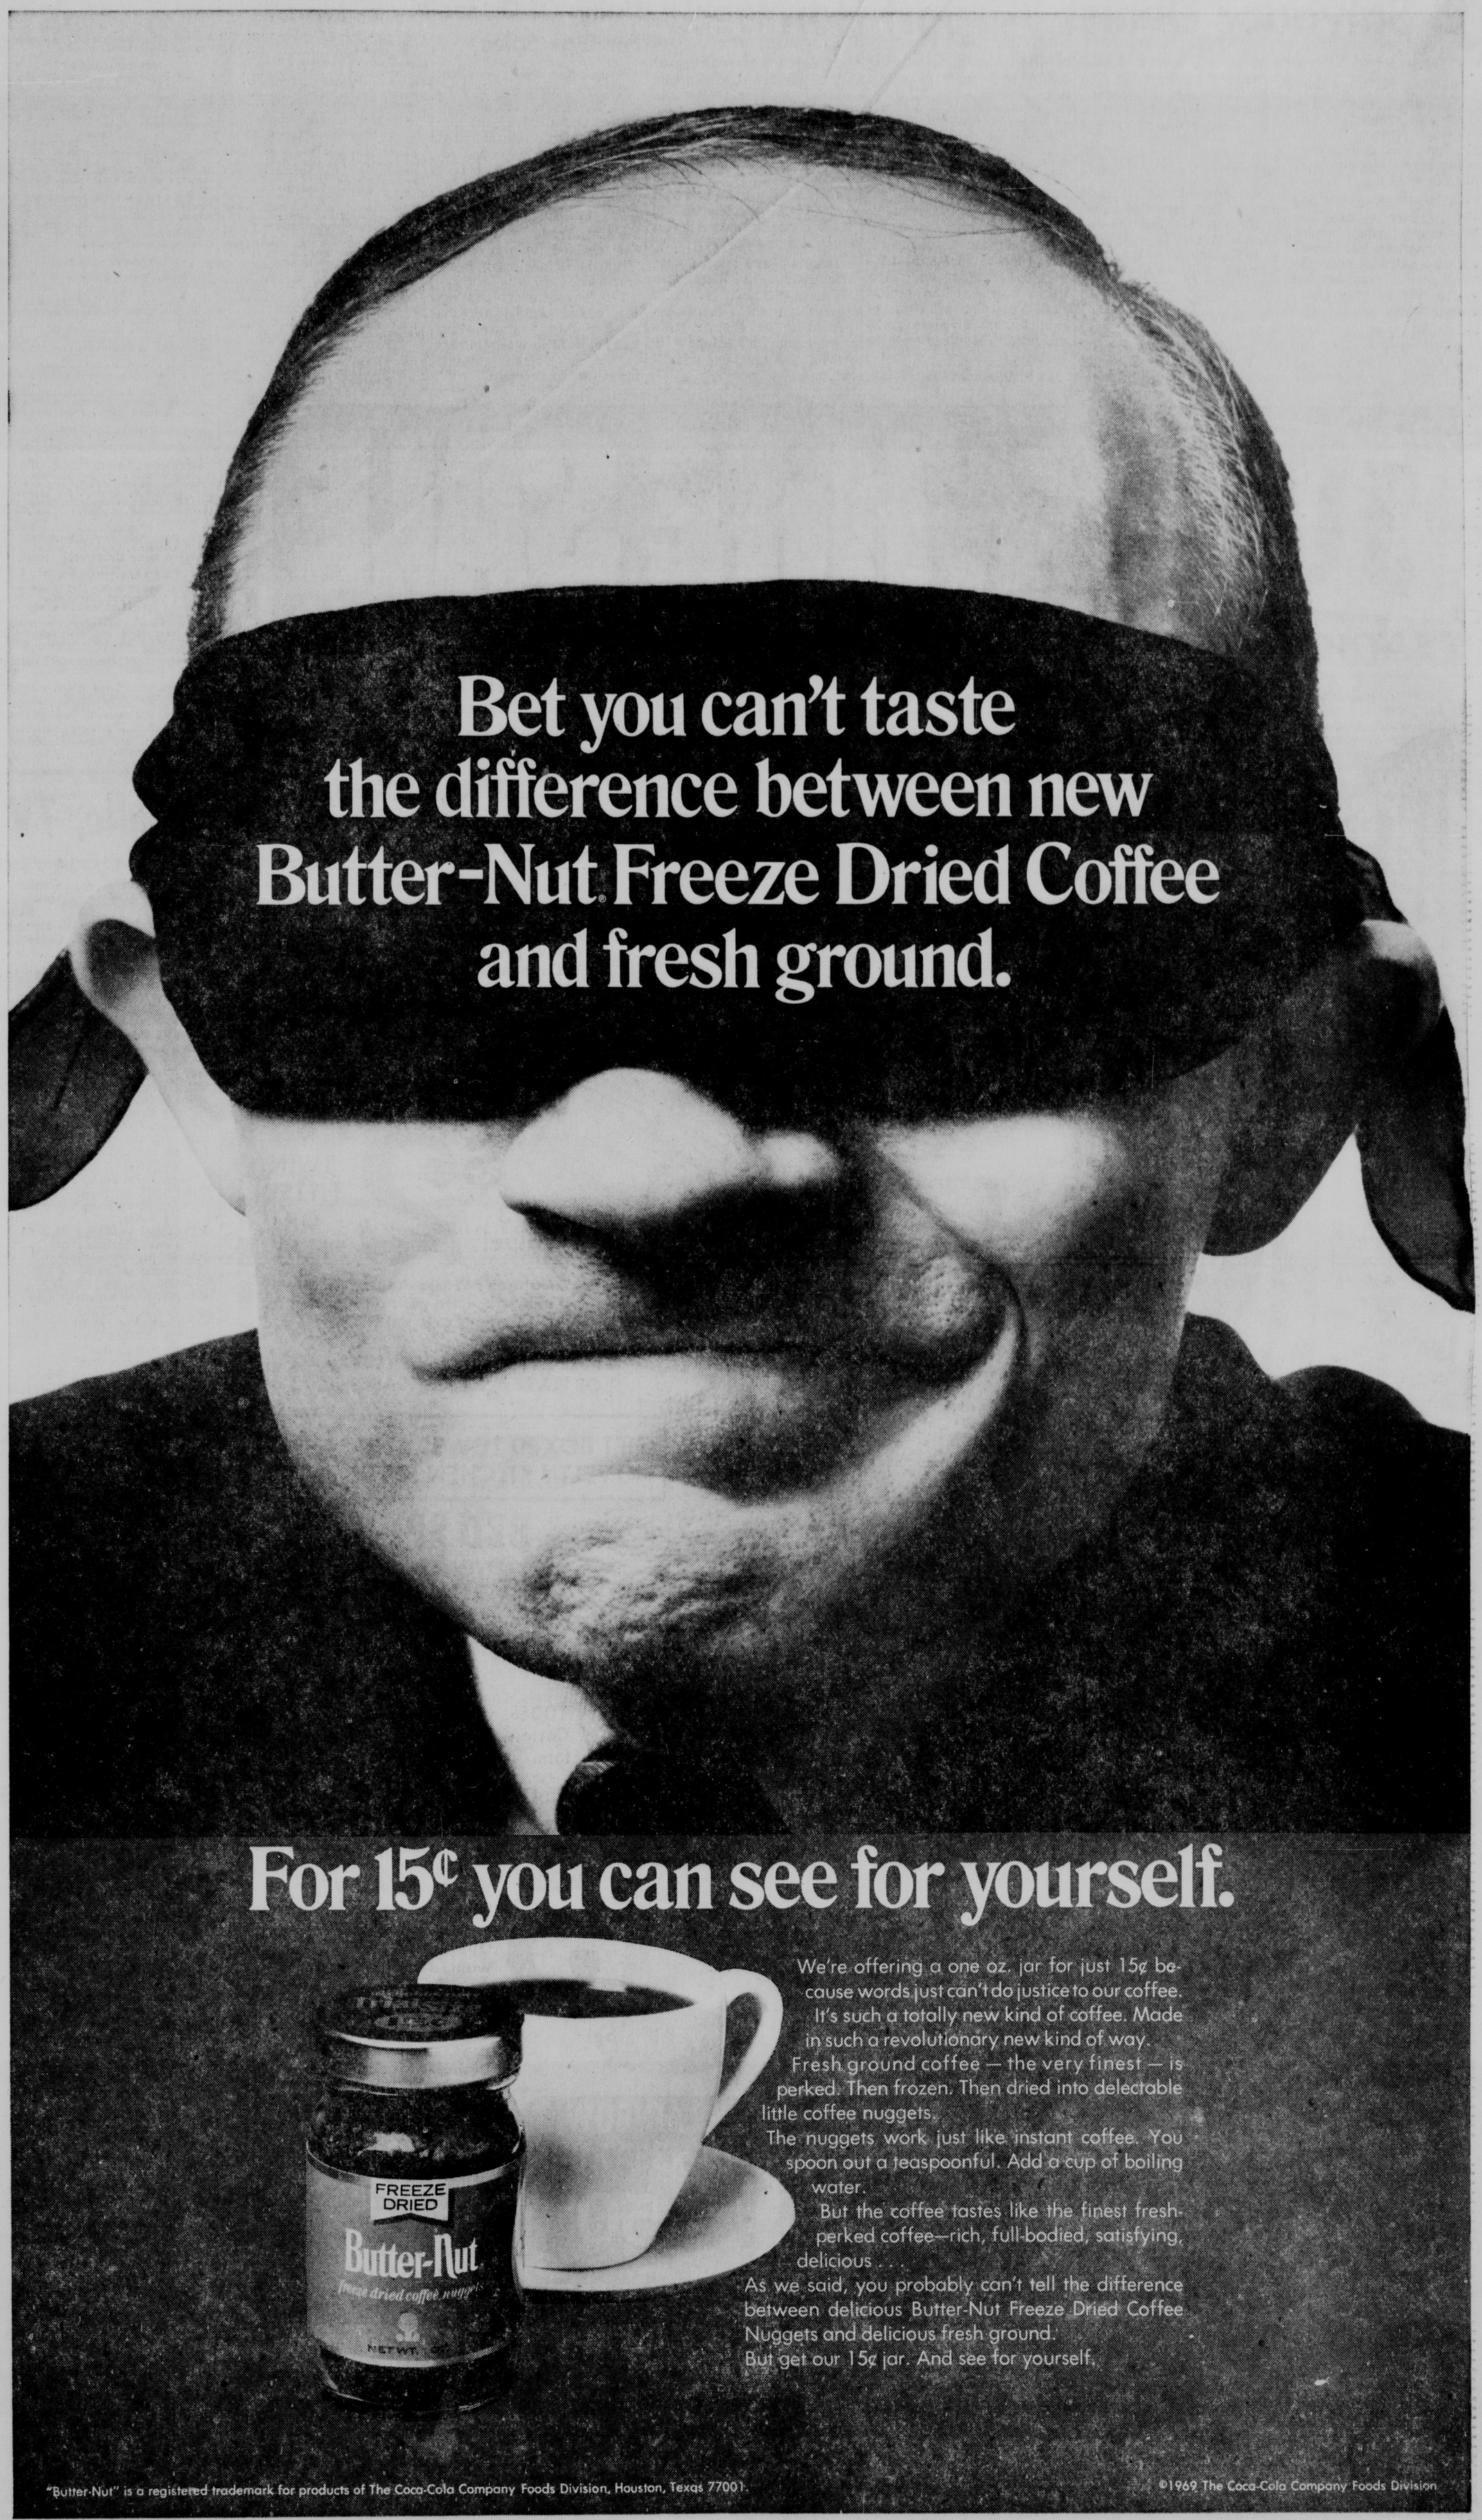
How It Works

The minimum tax plan, proposed by the administration, would work this way:

Assume a taxpayer earned $100,000 in ordinary income and received $200,000 in tax-free income, such as that from municipal bonds. Under present law he would be taxed only on the $100,000.

Under the new plan, he could claim only half his total $300,000 income, or $150,000 in tax-free income. He thus would be taxed on a total of $150,000 — or $50,000 more than under present law.

The committee turned down a controversial proposal of the Johnson administration to change the tax status of retired people over 65. The rejected plan would have included taxation of Social Security benefits, while increasing exemptions for low-income retired persons.



El Salvador Denies Airport Bombed

San Salvador (AP) — Witnesses reported two planes with Honduran markings attacked San Salvador's international airport Wednesday, but the Salvadoran military high command later denied the report.

Persons living or working near the airport said the planes dropped small bombs, possibly mortar shells thrown from the cockpits, over the airfield early Wednesday but that the raid did not cause serious damage.

El Salvador's military high command first said the airport, several miles outside of San Salvador, had been bombed and that a border village had been strafed. The command issued a communique a few hours later saying, "The Honduran air force has made no attack on the Llopango International Airport."

The alleged airport raid was the first report of action in the war between the two Central American neighbors since Sunday when Honduras claimed Salvadoran troops captured five Honduran villages. The report came only hours after the end of the 96-hour cease-fire arranged by the OAS. The cease-fire was to begin last Friday night and end at 10 p.m. Tuesday—the OAS deadline for withdrawal of troops from foreign soil.

That order was aimed at El Salvador which occupied over 1,000 square miles of Honduran territory in a week of fighting that began July 14 and has taken at least 2,500 lives.

El Salvador announced it would not withdraw from the occupied territory until Honduras guaranteed to protect the lives and property of some 300,000 Salvadorans who migrated to Honduras looking for land.

In a statement Wednesday, Salvadoran Foreign Minister Francisco Jose Guerrero said he was informing the OAS that such guarantees had not been presented. The implication was his country would continue to defy the OAS withdrawal order.

OAS foreign ministers decided in Washington to meet formally Saturday for the first time since 1964.

Details of the session were worked out in Washington Wednesday and an OAS spokesman said there appeared to be enough sentiment against El Salvador to put through sanctions against her.

FTC Accepts Listing Of Octane For Gas Sales

Washington (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Wednesday the Federal Trade Commission has accepted his proposal that gasoline companies be required to post the octane ratings of their gasoline at the pump.

"I am delighted that the Federal Trade Commission has decided to propose a 'Truth in Octane' rule, Proxmire said.

"If the consumers can see the octane rating of the gasoline thty purchase, they will not have to waste money for higher octane gasoline than their cars require."

Purchase Of Land OKd For Library

The Lincoln Library Board Wednesday voted to purchase approximately four acres of land on the corner of 56th and Normal Blvd. for the proposed Southeast Branch Library.

The land, part of a 19-acre tract owned by the Lincoln school district, will be appraised in order to determine a price, it was reported.

Library board members made the decision to ask for four acres after reviewing a sketch of the site prepared by architect Al Hammerski.

The schematic drawing proposed placing the 15,000-sq. ft. library building on the corner of 56th and Normal and a parking lot with space for 100 cars south of the building. The four-acre tract would indicate space for expansion of the building, if necessary, according to Hammerski.

Board members discussed the possibility of acquiring more than four acres of land at the site if the price is favorable although library director Charles Dalrymple said the proposed building would be an "optimum size unit even if the population density in the area increased as much as 25-30%."

Board members also discussed the feasibility of establishing a bookmobile headquarters at the Southeast Branch Library but generally agreed not to proceed with such plans.

In other business Wednesday the board approved an agreement with the Nebraska Public Library Commission to combine the public library film resources of both the state and city and to extend and develop improved service for both agencies.

According to the agreement, the state will pay Lincoln $10,000 for a year to house, collect, select, handle and maintain the film collection and extend service to all cooperating libraries throughout the state "on the same basic plan as previously afforded by the commission."

Fleming Grocery Reports Earnings Hit Record High

The Fleming Co., a Topeka-based wholesale grocery firm with a Nebraska office at 1601 Pioneers Blvd., reported a new high in sales and earnings for the first 28 weeks of 1969.

Consolidated sales for the period ending July 12 were $356,109,126, a 6.7% gain over the same period in 1968.

Net income for the period totaled $2,525,004, a rise of 3.1% over the previous year. Net income on common stock increased two cents per share to 53 cents, exceeding earnings during the first 28 weeks of 1968 by 3.9%.

R. D. Harrison, president and chief executive officer of the firm, said affiliated retailers have opened 30 new stores during 1969 and 21 stores are now under construction.

Huge Super DC8s Refuel At Lincoln Airport

Two of the nation's largest commercial aviation aircraft made refueling stops at the Lincoln Municipal Airport Wednesday.

The planes, United Air Lines' Super DC8s, were returning Boy Scouts from the national Scout jamboree in Idaho.

R. H. Wallace, captain of the first plane to stop, said the Lincoln airport was used because air traffic was not as heavy as at international airports.

The huge jet is used primarily for flights between international airports.

"We were able to fly in, refuel, and then take off immediately," Wallace said.

The Super DC8 weighed 273,918 pounds after being refueled. The plane is 187 feet long and can cruise at a speed of 600 miles per hour.

A United Air Lines spokesman said that prior to Wednesday only one other Super DC8 had landed at Muny Airport.

Charges To Be Filed For Tuesday Incidents

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said Wednesday night he planned to file "several" charges Thursday morning against suspects in connection with disturbances occurring in the city Tuesday night.

The decision was made by Douglas after meeting with Chief of Police Joe Carrol and Chief Inspector Robert Sawdon to review information filed and determine whether charges should be filed.

A fracas at Antelope Park, which law enforcement officers said was linked to the firebombings and other disturbances in the Malone area, apparently was started by a name-calling exchange.

In a report filed by the Lincoln Park Police, a man believed to have been intoxicated was said to be calling a group of about 25 to 30 Negroes names in a parking lot near Antelope Park Pavilion.

In attempting to break up an ensuing fight, officer Jerry Pope, 22, 3701 So. 45th, received a broken jaw when struck with what was believed to have been a piece of steel concrete reinforcing rod.

Following the altercation, a teen dance at the pavilion was closed and later outbreaks were reported in the Malone area.

A crowd, estimated at 30, gathered at 22nd and Vine and threw rocks at passing cars, police said.

After the group eas dispersed, damage was reported to the Payless Shoe Store, 1126 No. 27th; Taco Joe's, 27th and W; Aamco Transmission, 2416 N; Desmond Lumber Co., 1000 No. 22nd; and Schnieber Fine Foods, 810 No. 26th.

Three of the businesses were reported damaged as a result of firebombs, police said.

Among those taken into custody Tuesday night were a 22-year-old man who was released subject to call, and another 28-year-old who was charged with fleeing to avoid arrest.

Council Upholds Veto Of Omaha 1% Sales Tax

Omaha (AP) — Mayor Eugene Leahy's veto of an ordinance providing for a one per cent city sales tax held up through the City Council meeting.

Veto opponents needed five votes to override the mayor's action.

The council also introduced a new ordinance to impose a one-half per cent tax as of Nov. 1. A public hearing was set for next Tuesday.

The one cent tax was to have gone into effect Oct. 1.

Voting in support of the veto were Council President H. F. Jacobberger and Councilman Al Veys, Warren Swigart and John Ritums. Veys was one of four councilmen who originally voted for the ordinance.

Carmichael, Cleaver Discuss Black Movement In Algiers

©The New York Times

Algiers — Stokely Carmichael, former "prime minister" of the Black Panther Party, said Wednesday that he had met privately in Algiers with Eldridge Cleaver, the party's minister of information. But Carmichael said he "doubted" that he would rejoin the extremist group.

The black militant was interviewed on the sun-drenched terrace of his hotel in Algiers where he is attending the Pan-African Cultural Festival.

Carmichael, who is 28, resigned his Panthers' post last month after disputes within the party. He makes his home in the African nation of Guinea.

Wearing large dark glasses, Carmichael said softly criticism of himself by Cleaver was Cleaver's "right and his prerogative" and that controversy within the black nationalist movement was "healthy."

Cleaver, 33, has contended that Carmichael has "forgotten he's black" and has been disloyal to the movement by quitting the party.

Persons close to the two black leaders assert that they differ principally on the issue of cooperation with whites. Cleaver favors such cooperation when useful and is himself an editor of a white-run magazine, Ramparts.

Carmichael said in the interview that his opposing position was unchanged: He felt that the black nationalist movement must grow stronger before making alliances with non-whites. He called for "armed struggle" by blacks in America.

Carmichael said he was moved by the unity and vigor of African culture as evinced by the musicians and dancers who have been performing at the festival. Among them is his wife, the South African-born singer, Miriam Makeba.

House Amends Medicaid Program Bill

Washington (AP) — The House completed legislative action Wednesday on a measure permitting states to trim services under the medicaid program.

The legislation was passed by the Senate on pleas that the program, designed to provide health care for persons in the low income brackets — not exclusively welfare cases — had rocketed in cost and was causing some states acute financial distress.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., told the House the amendments "do not infringe on the program but will allow the states more freedom to determine their own needs."

Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Calif., objected that the legislation "is potentially a significant step backward."

It provides that a state may reduce services if it makes three commitments to the secretary of health, education and welfare.

These are:

—That it is spending as much on the over-all program this year as last.

—That it maintains controls on cost and utilization.

—That it does not increase the unit cost of payments to hospitals, physicians, nursing homes and other providers of services.

The conditions are intended to make sure that any savings go to the beneficiaries as far as possible.

States would not be allowed to eliminate any of the basic medicaid services — in-patient and out-patient hospital care, laboratory and X-ray services, nursing home care and physicians' services.

$4 Million Spent

Kingstown, B.W.I. (AP) — More than 14,000 tourists spent more than $4 million on St. Vincent Island during the first half of 1969.

Reds Going West Across North Laos

Vientiane, Laos (AP) — North Vietnamese and Communist-led Pathet Lao are sweeping westward across northern Laos in a drive that could cut off Vientiane from the royal capital of Luang Prabang, informed sources said Wednesday.

The attack's springboard was Muong Soui, the stronghold captured last month from government forces, at the western edge of the Plain of Jars about 100 miles north of Vientiane.

The enemy forces were driving down Route 7 from Muong Soui. At last reports they had captured Phoun Pahk Ben, an outpost three miles from the junctions of Route 7 and 13. Route 13 connects Vientiane and Luang Prabang.

Some sources said the enemy forces were trying to isolate Luang Prabang, 135 air miles north of Vientiane. Cutting off Route 13 would make the supply of Luang Prabang difficult, although most communications with the royal capital are now by air.

The sources said the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao were pressing a buildup at Muong Soui, with more than 50 trucks reported recently carrying supplies there from North Vietnam.

By these accounts, the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao appeared to be spreading out on both sides of Route 7. The sources reported heavy fighting around Xieng Dat, 11 miles southwest of Muong Soui and south of Route 7.

Hanoi radio demanded that the United States and Thailand withdraw military personnel from Laos to create conditions for a peaceful settlement. As far as is known, neither country has military forces in Laos although U.S. planes fly from Thai bases to attack the North Vietnamese in Laos, mainly along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in the east.

3 Hospitalized In Racial Fights At Marine Camp

Washington (AP) — Three white Marines have been hospitalized, one of them with stab wounds in the back, after racial fights involving 44 black and white Marines at Camp Lejeune, N.C., a Marine Corps spokesman said Wednesday.

Reports from the Marine base indicate the fights occurred Sunday night and followed an incident at a service club in which a Negro Marine tried to cut in on a white sailor dancing with a white girl.

Spokesman said that, so far as is known, this is the first major racial incident at Camp Lejeune, one of the Marine Corps' biggest installations.

After the service club incident, which led to an early closing of the recreation site, some 30 predominantly black Marines engaged in a series of fights with some 14 white Marines, the spokesman said.

Parties Pay Honor To Brides

The guest of honor at a pre-nuptial courtesy which took place Saturday afternoon, July 19, was Miss Sandra McGuire, daughter of Mrs. Emma McGuire, whose marriage to Bruce Rippeteau of Watertown, N.Y. will be an event of Saturday afternoon, July 26.

Miss Judith Martin was hostess at the party which was held at her home, and

Miss McGuire, who was graduated from the University of Nebraska this spring, is a member and past president of Sigma Kappa sorority. Mr. Rippeteau, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel D. Rippeteau of Watertown, N.Y., also is a graduate of the University and is currently doing graduate work at the University of Arizona at Tucson.

When Mrs. Earl Dorsey and Mrs. Roy Harding entertained on Tuesday evening, July 15, the informal party was a prenuptial courtesy honoring a bride-elect of late summer.

During the evening hours at the home of Mrs. Dorsey, a miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Kathy Davison of Lincoln, daughter of Mrs. John Davison of York, and the late Mr. Davison. The bride-to-be has chosen Saturday, Aug. 23, for her marriage to Roger Vollertsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Vollertsen of Syracuse.

Bride Of Late July

The marriage of Miss Mary Lou Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Boyle of Grand Island, to Ralph H. Huebner, also of Grand Island, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huebner of Lincoln, took place on Monday afternoon, July 21, at the Blessed Sacrament Church in Grand Island. The 2 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Rodney Prues, assisted by the Rev. Robert Call of the Trinity United Methodist Church in Grand Island. Mrs. Eugene Bishop played the wedding music, and Mrs. Robert Ley was the vocal soloist.

Miss Pamela Boyle was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Miss Sue Reimers. Mrs. Joseph Bunik of Lincoln was the bridesmatron. Their alike, floor-length frocks were in the turquoise shade and were designed in the Empire mode. They carried wicker baskets filled with white daisies.

Dan Huebner of Lincoln served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included Roger Harmon of Oxford, Don Day, Robert Sharp, Dale Huebner of North Loup, and Jerry Huebner of Scotia.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta for her wedding. The long-sleeved basqued bodice, was designed with a sabrina neckline and was smoothly fitted above a sheath skirt. A court train which extended from the shoulders into cathedral length gave back interest to the gown. A cluster of lace rosebuds, dotted with pearls held in palace the veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations.

One of the most symbolic colors in the state of Nebraska is red. To non-Nebraskans the color red is associated with the autumn season when the leaves are changing color and falling from the trees, but to the average resident of our state the color red reminds him of Saturday afternoons spent cheering for his favorite football team which just happens to be nicknamed Big Red. However, the importance of red in the Lincoln area doesn't end in the autumn but continues on through the summer when Lincoln residents roll out the red carpet to welcome their out of town guests. During the past few weeks suburbia has literally been overflowing with these out of town visitors.

Arriving at the Kimballcrest home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Simpson last week were Mr. and Mrs. Simpson's son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. William Simpson and their three children Susan Kay, Stephen, and Andy all of New Port, R.I. Dr. and Mrs. Simpson will be visiting in Lincoln until the middle of August when they will return to Newport where he is stationed with the Navy.

Eastridge has been having its share of company during the past week, and some of the activity has been at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Link who have been entertaining long time friends. Arriving at the Link home last Saturday were Dr. and Mrs. Hascal Cohen and their three children, Jennifer, Jeffrey, and Paul all of Littleton, Mass. The Cohens will be visiting with the Link's through Saturday when they will fly back to Littleton.

Then on August 3, Mrs. Link and her two children, John and Sarah, will be doing some flying of their own. The threesome of Links will fly to Miami, Fla. where they will visit with Mrs. Link's mother, Mrs. Dolly Raz. They will be returning to their Eastridge home on August 13.

Traveling also has been on the social calendar for several Lincoln families lately. Returning to their Cotner Terrace home on Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong and their daughter, Roberta. The Armstrongs had spent a week traveling in Colorado. Their visit included stops in Estes Park, the Rocky Mountain National Park and a visit to the Royal Gorge. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong and their daughter then spent several days as the guests of Mrs. Armstrong's brother and sister-in-law and their family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanson of Colorado Springs, Col., before returning home.

It was a combination business-plus-pleasure trip when Robert Peterson joined Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hampton and their children on a trip to Colorado this week. Mr. Peterson will be attending the National Home Builder's District Meeting in Colorado Springs and taking in some of the sights with the Hamptons. He will be returning to his Wedgewood Manor home the beginning of next week, but the Hampton's will continue their vacation and won't return to their Lincolnshire home till later the following week.

Miss Niki Scott was hostess at a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening at her Sunnyside Acres home. Twenty-five guests attended the party which was given in honor of Miss Jane Rutt who will become the bride of John Scott on July 26.

Courtesies

To be honored on Friday evening will be Miss Linda Henrichs, daughter of Mrs. Guilia Henrichs, and her fiance, Thomas Haase, whose marriage will be an event of Saturday, July 26.

Entertaining in prenuptial courtesy to their son and Miss Henrichs will be Mr. and Mrs. Milton Haase, who will host members of the families and the bridal party at a dinner to be held at Coatney's Restaurant.

On Tuesday, the soon-to-be bride was presented a linen shower at a party for which Miss Jeri Munford and Mrs. Kim Tyler were hostesses at the home of Miss Munford.

Mrs. Steve Krebs and Mrs. James Hays, Jr. entertained in courtesy to Miss Henrichs on Sunday, July 13 at the home of Mrs. Hays. During the prenuptial party guests presented Miss Henrichs with a miscellaneous shower.

Earlier this spring, Zeta Tau Alpha sorority sisters of Miss Henrichs presented her with a china and crystal shower at a party which was held at the sorority house.

Afternoon Wedding

At a 3 o'clock ceremony on Sunday afternoon, July 20, the wedding of Miss Merry Sue Roeber of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roeber of Murdock, and Pfc. Terry Arthur Drake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Drake of Elmwood, took place at the Trinity Lutheran Church near Murdock. The Rev. John F. Boerger read the lines of the service, and Mrs. Boerger played the wedding music. Miss Pamela Rikli was the vocal soloist.

Empire, floor-length frocks in the gold tone were chosen for the attendants who were Mrs. Wayne Stock, sister of the bridegroom and the matron of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Margaret Brandt of Avoca, and Miss Pam Oehlerking of Alvo. Each carried a long stemmed white rose.

John Roeber of St. Louis, Mo., brother of the bride, served as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Dennis Drake, LeRoy Roeber of Ashland, Keith Drake, George Mattice, Lester Roeber and Ralph Puls.

The bride appeared in a gown of white silk organza over taffeta designed in the Empire mode. The sculptured bodice, fashioned with a wedding ring neckline and close-fitting sleeves of elbow length was patterned with an applique motif of reembroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls. The lace and pearl applique was repeated on the long, A-line skirt, and ornamented the watteau train which extended into cotillion length. Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was held to the head with a crown of seed pearls and lace, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bride is associated with an insurance company in Lincoln, and Pvt. Drake soon is to be assigned to military duty overseas.

ON THE INTERNATIONAL SCENE

There is a strong international flavor in news of Lincoln this morning — We have news of guests from France and Greece, and we have news of a guest who is visiting a family who regard the world as a very small place — and with reason.

* * *

We'll begin with the international scene at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Watson who are entertaining visitors from abroad.

One of the young men is almost 12 years old and he is making his second visit to Lincoln this summer. We're speaking, as you may have guessed of Mr. and Mrs. Watson's grandson, Christopher Boicos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kosta Boicos (Brigette Watson) of Athens, Greece, who arrived a few weeks ago.

A recent arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Watson is Gilles Coulomb of Paris, France, and the son of one of Mrs. Watson's old friends.

Mr. Coulomb, whose father is a journalist in Paris, is an engineering graduate but is spending the current summer touring the United States.

We can't really call Francis Watson a guest at the home of his parents even though, what with Taft School, Yale University and the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, he hasn't had too much time to spend at home. He now has completed his summer's work at the children's psychiatric hospital in Omaha, and will spend a brief time in Lincoln before taking off to the east coast and a visit with former Yale classmates.

Attendants

For her marriage to Wayne L. Andersen which will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 2, Miss Shirley Jean Elliott has chosen her sister, Miss Patricia Elliott of Omaha, as her honor attendant.

Attending Miss Elliott as bridesmaids for the afternoon service, to be solemnized at St. Paul's United Church of Christ, will be her sister, Miss Deborah Elliott of Omaha, and Miss Jane Birkel, and the bridesmatron will be Mrs. Bruce Raymer. Miss Diana Elliott of Omaha, will be her sister's junior bridesmaid, and the flower girl will be Miss Deborah Walsh.

Bruce Raymer will serve Mr. Andersen as best man, and the groomsmen will include Chris Kingery, Ken Prouty and Frank Sligar. Seating the guests will be Craig Chapman and Paul Richardson, and Donald Holbrook will be ringbearer.

A member of the nursing staff at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Miss Elliott is the daughter of Mrs. Elsie L. Elliott of Omaha.

The international flavor is strong at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cunningham, also. Mr. Cunningham recently retired from the foreign service and witn Mrs. Cunningham and their two sons, Andrew and James, decided to return to his old home town to reside.

If your memory serves you well you will remember that Mr. Cunningham is the son of the late Col. Harry Cunningram, and Mrs. Cunningham.

And Mrs. Cunningham, a native of France, now is spending a month at the home of her son and daughter-in-law. She arrived from Washington D.C., where she now resides, several days ago.

That strong international flavor that we mentioned includes not only Mrs. Francis Cunningham who is a native of Switzerland, but also the variety of places the family has lived — the Scandinavian countries — Vietnam, Germany — just to name a few of the assignments.

Whether or not the foreign service will cast a beckoning finger in the direction of the two Cunningham sons is yet unknown — At the moment they have other things on their minds. Andrew, a graduate of Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass., attends the University of Nebraska, and his younger brother James, who was graduated from Phillips Academy earlier this summer, will be a freshman at Princeton University in the fall.

* * *

Now to a guest who comes from a city that has a more familiar ring than Athens, Paris and such.

We learned that Miss Annette Gessner arrived on Tuesday to spend the remainder of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gessner.

Miss Gessner, who is a member of the Racine, Wis., public schools faculty didn't come straight home from school, however — She went to Endwell, N.Y., for a visit with her sister, Mrs. R. L. Lewis, (Virginia Gessner) and Mr. Lewis.

Both Miss Gessner and Mrs. Lewis are Tri-Delts at the University of Nebraska.

Abby: she needs love, encouragement

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She is very fat, and I am ashamed of her. She's a good mother, but she weighs more than 200 pounds, and eats everything she wants and plenty of it. I don't see how my daddy can stand her. I don't think he could get his arms around her.

I don't like for my friends to meet her, and I don't want to go out and be seen with her.

What chance do I have to get a boyfriend when he sees HER? I know a girl is supposed to love her mother, but how can I when I don't even respect her?

I have a picture of her before she got fat and she was beautiful. She is only 30. (Sign me) ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: Every fat woman is "ashamed" of herself, but losing weight is trictly a do-it-yourself project. I will print your letter in hopes that your mother sees it, takes the hint, goes to her doctor for a check-up and a diet, latches on to "Tops" or "Weight Watchers" and becomes her "beautiful" self once again. Meanwhile, little girl, even tho your mother's appearance may not make you "proud," there are other qualities of equal or greater imporatnce. And troubled by weight, she needs your love now more than when she was slim and "beautiful."

DEAR ABBY: For the past six years I have lived in Virginia, but New York City is really my home town. I am going to be married soon, and all my relatives and my fiance's relatives live near New York, so we have decided to be married in a lovely little chapel there.

The chapel is not very well known, and will be difficult to find, so my father and my fiance want me to insert MAPS and directions in the wedding invitations! Abby, this is going to be a very lovely formal church wedding, and I want to do everything just right, so even if the map drawings are neat and good looking, is it considered proper etiquette to inclose them with engraved wedding invitations?

A YANKEE IN DIXIE

DEAR YANKEE: I am no authority on etiquette, but for my money, common sense outranks etiquette any day of the week. So if I were you I'd provide my guests with maps and directions, if you want to get them to the church on time.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I disagree on something I consider vital to a good marriage. I disapprove of a married man taking his secretary out to lunch, or dinner, or even for a drink after office hours.

My husband says it is a nice way to show his appreciation for extra work, or a job well done. What do you say? GEMINI

DEAR GEMINI: I say, if a boss wants to show "appreciation" he should try money.

Birthday Celebration At Patio Party

When Mr. and Mrs. Maurice M. Carlton are host and hostess at a patio party next Tuesday evening at their home it will be something of a celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Carlton, of course, will be welcoming out of town members of the family who will be in Lincoln for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Sue Carlton and Gary Peterson on Aug. 1 — but there is more —

It seems that Mrs. Carlton's sisters, Mrs. Howard Porter of Phoenix, Ariz., who arrives on Saturday, and Mrs. Glenn Gordon of Hastings who, with Mr. Gordon, will be attending the party, share Mrs. Carlton's birthday month — July. So it seemed proper and fitting that the three sisters celebrate their anniversaries and meet the potential bridegroom at one and the same time.

Among the guests will be Mrs. Carlton's mother, Mrs. M. J. Williams of Phoenix who arrived last Wednesday; Mr. Peterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Peterson, their son Allen and daughter, Miss Annette Peterson; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bell and their son Kirk; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams and their daughter, Sheri, and Miss Edith Williams.

Italian Designers Show Collections

Leonara Dodsworth, fashion writer for the Associated Press is in Rome attending the fashion shows presented by Italian designers. Here is her story:

Rome — Thirties movie queen Carole Lombard lived again Tuesday at Capucci as Rome fashion shows reached their sixth day.

Capucci reproduced the slinky satin lounging pajamas that slithered their way through so many of Miss Lombard's films.

They had decollete tops deep-slashed to the waist and were trimmed in deep bands of fox fur.

Long satin stoles added to the glamor.

Capucci had thought up something new to wear under an ankle-length greatcoat instead of the ubiquitous pants-costume or jumpsuit. Capucci's idea was a belted bush jacket or a knitted tunic worn without skirt or trousers.

This outfit exposes a lot of leg when the coat is open, so Capucci provided heavy hose is tweedy knit.

Capucci had two stunning shirtwaisters made in a fine soft fabric that looked like nun's veiling. The dresses were floor-length and had loosely pleated skirts.

It takes some imagination to give a new look to beading. But Capucci brought it off with soft, pastel-colored silk dresses entirely embroidered in tiny transparent ''tapioca'' beads. Pale-colored flower embroideries drifted across some of the dresses.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 NT	2 ♦	3 NT

The bidding:

Opening lead — four of spades.

Anyone can win tricks with aces and kings; the real challenge is to win them with deuces and treys. Here is a fine example of the art.

South was declarer in three notrump and West led a spade. East won with the king, returned the three, and West cashed the A-J before exiting with the eight. East won this with the nine and led the queen of diamonds to dummy's ace.

Declarer's propsects were certainly dim at this point, but they brightened considerably when he led a club to the ace and West showed out.

This was a highly significant development because it meant that West, who had shown up with four spades and no clubs — and had to have exactly five diamonds (on the bidding) — was bound to have started with four hearts.

After South had cashed four club tricks, this became the position:

East
♥ Q 10
♣ 8 7

South
♥ A K 2

Declarer now cashed the nine of clubs and discarded the ten of diamonds, placing West in an extremely unpleasant predicament. West could not discard a diamond because that would make dummy's deuce of diamonds a trick, nor could he discard a heart because that would make South's duece of hearts a trick. So South made three no-trump.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

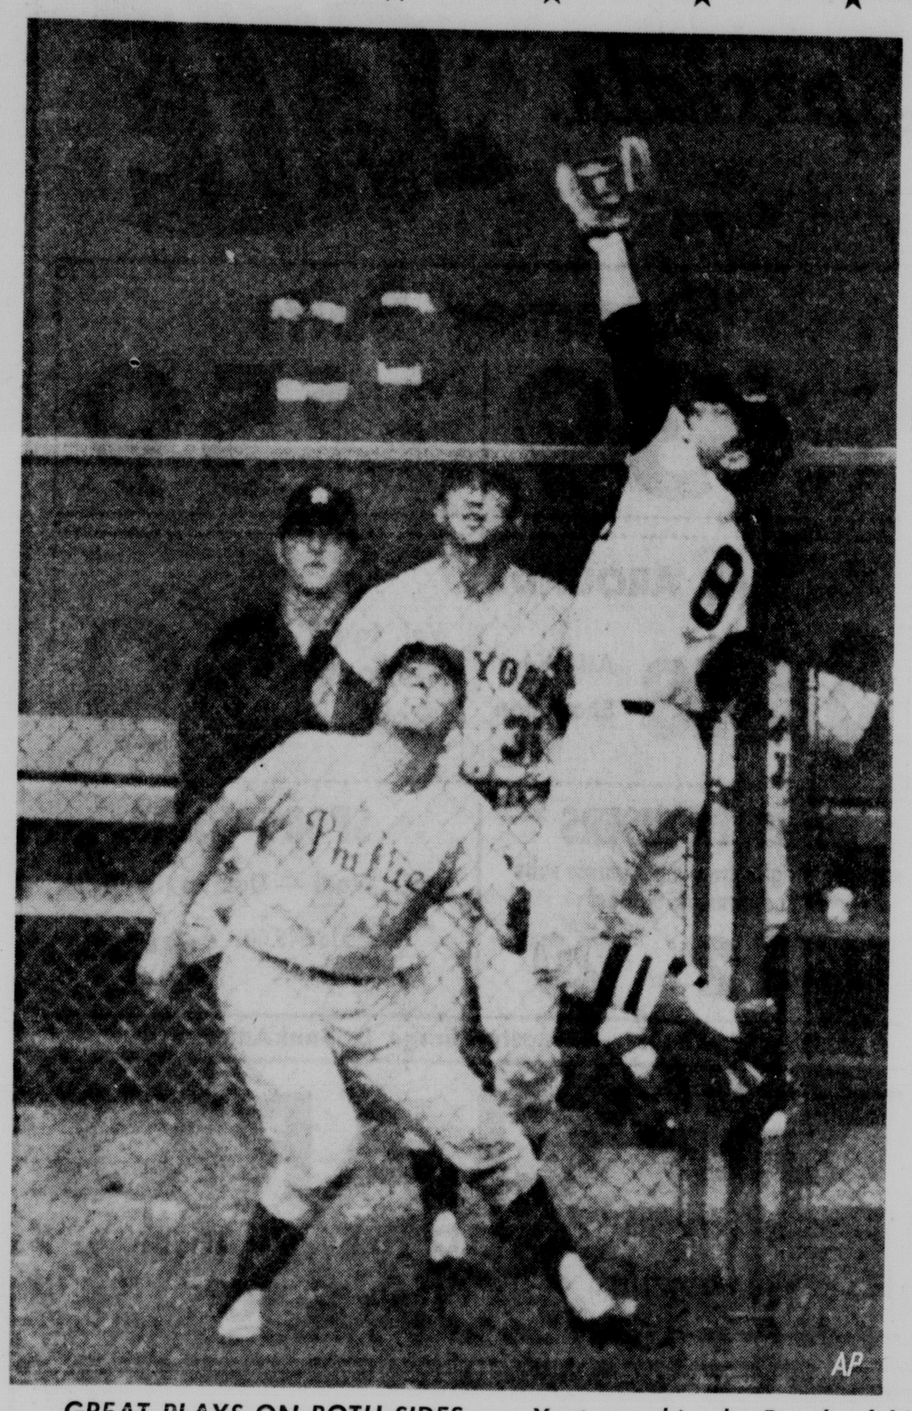
NL MOONSHOT LANDS ON TARGET

...McCovey Orbits Two Blows, Sinking AL Stars



GREAT PLAYS ON BOTH SIDES . . . Yastrzemski robs Bench of his second homer, left, and Kessinger blocks Bando's hit to keep it in the infield.

Washington (AP) — The National League staged its own moon shot Wednesday and splashed down at soggy Kennedy Stadium with a 9-3 rout of the American League for a seventh straight All-Star victory.

Willie McCovey, the 6-foot-4 slugger of the San Francisco Giants, tied a record with two homers and Johnny Berch of Cincinnati was robbed of a second homer by a sensational catch by Boston's Carl Yastrzemski.

Frank Howard of Washington almost put a ball into orbit with a 460-foot drive off the center field stands and Bill Freehan of Detroit also homered for the overmatched Americans.

Fittingly enough, in an era of men flying to the moon, Denny McLain, the scheduled American League starter, blew his chance by flying to Detroit for a date with the dentist. By the time the Tigers' ace touched down on the return trip, the ball game was over for all practical purposes.

McCovey's two homers equalled the All-Star game feats of Arky Vaughn of Pittsburgh in 1941, Ted Williams of Boston in 1946 and Al Rosen of Cleveland in 1954.

President Nixon also missed the ball game because he left Tuesday night for the Pacific and the astronauts' splashdown after the game was postponed by a heavy thunderstorm.

A crowd of 45,259 that included Vice President Spiro Agnew braved a forecast of afternoon showers on hot, muggy afternoon. Although it drizzled about noon, the rain held off for the full nine innings.

It also was appropriate in a moon era that John Odom of Oakland, a man who labors under the name of "Blue Moon," was the victim of a five-run assault in the third inning. "Blue Moon" never did get things under control and departed with a negative tied record of yielding most hits — five — in an inning.

McCovey's first homer came off Odom in the big third inning when the Nationals batted around. Some of the American League-oriented fans jeered their favorites.

The big thrill for Washington fans was a 460-foot home run off the mezzanine deck in center field in the second by Frank Howard of the Senators.

Freehan added the other American League homer in the third. Both homers came off winner Steve Carlton, St. Louis left-hander.

It was a romp for the Nationals, who have not lost to the Americans since 1962 and opened up a 22-17-1 edge in a series once completely dominated by the American League.

In fact, the American had not scored in 20 innings until Howard brought the crowd roaring to its feet with his tremendous homer in the second.

Howard's sloppy fielding gave the Nationals their run in the first. Felipe Alou of Pittsburgh singled, moved to second on an infield out, took third on Mel Stottlemyre's wild pitch and scored when big Frank lumbered in and failed to hold a fly by Hank Aaron of Atlanta.

Bench followed a single by Cleon Jones of New York with a 420-foot homer in the second for a 3-0 National Lead that was cut to 3-1 by Howard's homer in the bottom of the inning.

Then came the deluge. Odom, tastily attired in the green, black, white and yellow of the Oakland Athletics, watched helplessly while a parade of Nationals blasted the ball around the confines of R. F. Kennedy Stadium.

Aaron opened up with a single, and McCovey ripped Odom's fourth pitch off the scoreboard in right center. The big first baseman had gone hitless in eight at bats in three previous All-Star games and had grounded out in the first inning before he hit the homer.

Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs grounded out, but Cleon Jones of the New York Mets got a life when shortstop Rico Petrocelli of Boston booted his grounder.

Bench followed with a single and Felix Millan of Atlanta doubled scoring both runners. When Carlton followed with another double to deep left center scoring Millan, manager Smith replaced Odom with Darold Knowles, Washington relief ace, who finally got the side out.

Freehan accounted for the second American League run with his third-inning homer off Carlton and also drove in their third and final run in the fourth when he singled after Howard had walked and Sal Bando of Oakland singled.

McCovey's second homer, a 335-foot liner over the right field fence, was the final gunfire for the Nationals, who went quietly through the final five innings as though rushing for a plane.

Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians turned in the best pitching effort with two hitless innings in which he struck out four men. Bill Singer of the Los Angeles Dodgers also breezed through two hitless innings, the fifth and sixth.

Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox contributed the big fielding play, but it came for a hopeless cause. He jumped high to snatch Bench's bid for a second homer in the sixth, grabbing the ball off the top of the seven-foot steel fence in deep left field.

Manager Smith used 26 of his 28 available men, including his flying pitching ace. The only Americans who saw no action were pitcher Mickey Lolich of Detroit and catcher Eliseo Rodriguez of Kansas City.

Red Schoendenst, St. Louis Manager, used 23 of his National League players in this contest that was a key part of baseball's 100th anniversary celebration. He still had pitchers Tom Seaver of New York, Juan Marichal of San Francisco and Grant Jackson of Philadelphia as well as catcher Chris Cannizzaro of San Diego and outfielder Rusty Staub of Montreal.

Smith Wants Denny Healthy, Not Early

Washington (AP) — Detroit manager Mayo Smith, skipper of the defeated American League All-Stars, said Wednesday he was more concerned about the health of his star pitcher, Denny McLain, than whether he would start the annual classic.

Smith also said the switch from McLain to Mel Stottlemyre of the New York Yankees was not made at the last minute. He said he told Stottlemyre Tuesday night, after the All-Star game was postponed by rain, he would start if McLain could not make it back from Detroit in time to start.

McLain flew to Detroit after the postponement to keep a dental appointment at 8 a.m. Wednesday morning. He spent three hours in the dentist's chair having nine teeth capped.

"The fact that he came late had no bearing on the ball game," said Smith after the National League defeated the American League 9-3. "It still would have had the same result.

"He would have pitched only two innings and I would have brought on Stottlemyre or John Odom. I had not planned to use any pitcher over two innings.

"I expected him (McLain) to be back in time to start but when it's a matter of a man's health and pitching, a man's health is more important."

McLain left the park while the game still was in progress to fly to Florida and was not available for comment.

Ted Williams, Washington manager who was an American League coach, said he was impressed with the power of the National League, especially 21-year-old John Bench of Cincinnati, who hit one of the five home runs in the game.

"He's a real good one," Williams said. "He's only 21 but a real mature 21."

Williams also complimented Boston outfielder Carl Yastrzemski, who leaped high above the seven-foot fence in left field to take a homer away from bench.

"That was a helluva catch," said Williams, who injured his elbow in the 1951 All-Star game when he ran into a wall. "It was timed just right." Yastrzemski hurt his groin in making the leap but said the injury was not serious.

Over 13,800 Deer Permits Left In State

Nebraska archers have taken out 269 permits for the 1969 deer season, and 15 for antelope, according to the Game Commission.

Bowmen will hunt deer in Nebraska from Sept. 20 through Dec. 31, except during the firearm season, and will stalk antelope Aug. 16 through Sept. 26. The entire state is open for hunting with bow and arrow.

Unsold firearm permits for the deer season as of Tuesday numbered 13,801 in 13 management units in central and western Nebraska. All permits in the Blue, Nemaha, Wahoo, Elkhorn, and DeSoto units in eastern Nebraska and all antelope permits have been sold out since June 20.

Deer units with firearm permits remaining are Buffalo, 441; Calamus, 1,136; Frenchman, 1,112; Keya Paha, 748; Loup East, 336; Loup West, 310; Missouri, 733; Pine Ridge, 2,801; Plains, 1,253; Platte, 1,630; Republican, 549; Sand Hills, 1,483; and Upper Platte, 1,269. There were 32,300 permits authorized for the 1969 season by the Game Commission.

The deer firearm season runs Nov. 1-9 in the Blue and Nemaha units and Nov. 8-16 in all other except the DeSoto Unit. The season there is dependent upon the waterfowl seasons, which have not been set as yet. The antelope firearm season is open on Sept. 27, 28, and 29, and on Oct. 4 and 5.

Land Purchased

The Game Commission said Wednesday it has purchased a section of land in Smiley Canyon west of Fort Robinson and 120 acres in Jefferson County.

Priscilla Fighting A Losing Battle?

Your poor old Aunt Priscilla just seems to be fighting a losing battle with the tote board.

Priscilla

For the third time this season I lost money at the races despite having a winner.

Real Chance won the fifth race for me Wednesday, returning a whopping $2.80 on my $2 win ticket. Believe me, there was plenty of room in my purse for that payoff.

But worse than that, Wenga, my other $2 win choice, ran third in the sixth race, so I ended up with a $1.20 loss which dropped my spree fund, which started at $100, down to $83.60.

Today I'll buy a $2 win ticket on Handy Boy in the sixth and a $2 win on Quick Cry in the eighth.

—EIGHT BOGEYS HURT—

Dorothy's Lead Shaved To Five In 3rd Round

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Dorothy Schwartzkopf was smiling about her round of 81 Wednesday at Pioneers Park in the third round of the Lincoln Women's City Golf Tournament.

But that smile disappeared briefly when she began checking over her scorecard where she found eight bogeys.

"I didn't realize I had that many bogeys," she said. "That's too many."

Her only birdie of the round came at the 271-yard, par-4 14th where she hit a 9-iron second shot within a foot of the cup for an easy birdie putt.

Her seven-over-par 81 permitted Jean Hyland to pick up one stroke and cut the lead to five going into today's final round at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Dorothy's leading total is a 10-over-par 239. The closest challenger to Dorothy and Jean is Lou Vermaas, who is in third place with a 270, 41 strokes over par.

Jean's biggest problems Wednesday came with the par-4 holes, bogeying four of them and double bogeying a fifth.

But she liked the par-3s, getting birdies at both the 125-yard seventh and the 105-yard 17th.

Mrs. Schwartzkopf found the greens, many of them badly burned by last week's heat and a chemical treatment used on them, very troublesome, particularly in hitting approach shots to them.

"The greens were very rough," she explained, "And it was tough figuring out what to hit to them."

Barb Deurmeyer all but wrapped up the junior division crown with a 109 for a 321 total after 54 holes, a 17-stroke lead over runner-up Pam Edwards.

Battle Trouble Holds Off Lomesome Eddie In 7th

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Battle Trouble held off a powerful stretch drive by Lonesome Eddie to win Wednesday's featured seventh race at the State Fairgrounds.

The victory was Battle Trouble's third in four 1969 outings and his second straight at the Lincoln oval.

The 6-5 favorite under jockey Fred Ecoffey, Battle Trooble went wire to wire but was just one-half length ahead of the fast-closing Lonesome Eddie as they raced under the wire. Happy Vie was another two lengths back in the show sp...

Lonesome Eddie, well off the pace in the early running, moved up on the backstretch and around the far turn, but had difficulty finding running room to make his rush at the leaders. Dave King got Lonesome Eddie through on the inside in time to catch Happy Vie, but not Battle Trouble, who covered the six furlongs in 1:13 4-5.

Owned by Howard Agee and William Varner of Omaha, Battle Trouble returned $4.40, $2.80 and $2.60. Lonesome Eddie paid $3.40 and $2.60, while Happy Vie, under Eugene Tines, returned $3.40.

Battle Trouble, a six-year-old son of War Trouble and Blue Lustre, has now won nearly $3,700 in just four outings this year. Last year he won $8,279 in 16 races.

Kid Heathen, a triple winner this year at Ak-Sar-Ben, scored his first Lincoln win by overhauling pace-setter Top Lofker in the sixth race.

Ridden by apprentice Gary Birzer, a double winner Wednesday, Kid Heathen ran the mile in 1:41 2-5. Top Locker was second and Wenga third.

First-race winner War Spice joined second-race winner Stubzy to produce a $25.40 daily double on numbers 7 and 9. A consolation daily double of $11 was paid on 7 and 6 due to the late scratch of Lady Marguery, No. 6 in the second race.

Player-Coach Sam Huff Fits Lombardi's Plans

©The New York Times

By WILLIAM N. WALLACE

Carlisle, Pa. — Robert Lee (Sam) Huff, an aging professional football player, has put aside retirement to join his idol, Vincent Thomas (Vince) Lombardi, in the rejuvenation of the Washington Redskins, a football enterprise that last fielded a winning team in 1954.

Huff is listed as linebacker and coach. Therefore he attends all player and coaches' meetings and linebacks in the two-a-day 90-minute drills. "I'm tired," said Sam at the Redskins' training camp here. "I go from 7 in the morning 'til 11 at night with only an hour off. That's after lunch. I sleep — soundly."

Huff retired from the Redskins following the 1967 season, ostensibly ending a distinguished 12-year career. His niche in pro-football history is secure because he was the game's first identifiable defensive hero as a Giant when the nation, and notably New York, was discovering pro-football in the late 1950's.

Sam found life without football unrewarding emotionally and financially. When Lombardi ended his one-year coaching retirement last winter Huff went in pursuit of the man he had known only slightly in 1956-58 when Vince was an assistant coach for offense with the Giants.

Lombardi, never noted for his vocational altruism, seemed uninterested in Sam Huff, coach, but Sam Huff, player-coach, was something else again. After all, clean-living Huff had been a fine middle linebacker who never missed a game in 11 seasons. Besides, Sam grew up in the 4-3 defensive system, the one founded by Tom Landry when he was a Giant coach and the defense Lombardi teams have always lived by.

Both Lombardi and Huff expect Sam to open the season as the Washington middle linebacker. He will be a smarter player. "Being a coach really opens your eyes," said Huff. "Lombardi's approach to football is absolutely fantastic. I've been around. I thought I knew the game. But he's expanding my mind. You know the saying — Lombardi would have made a success out of the Edsel."

As Huff spoke, a Redskin rookie stood on his chair in the modern air-conditioned dining room at lovely old Dickinson College and sang his song. This is pro-football's traditional act of hazing.

"There's my boy," said Huff. It was a big dark-haired youth in shorts and a turtleneck named John Didion. An all-American from Oregon State, Didion is 15 pounds heavier and two inches taller than Sam. Huff is grooming him to be his successor.

The rookie's singing was terrible yet hilarious. The Redskins, 70 strong, all laughed and none harder than Lombardi. Life under the Master is not entirely grim. Lombardi's ability is to teach and to inspire a 34-year-old Huff or a 21-year-old Didion to play football far better than they ever believed they could.

TOM HONIG

Omaha Westside's Tom Honig was an excellent student in high school and in athletics, in addition to his many football honors, was a track letterman.

Honig

But he considers the gridiron sport as his favorite, and says he is "looking forward to playing in the Shrine Bowl game as a fullfillment of a dream."

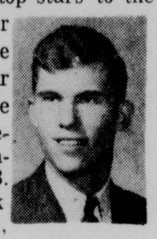
The 5-10, 195-pound guard will be playing for coach Roland Carter's South team in the Aug. 23 classic.

Honig, who was an all-conference choice from the tough Metro League, will then be heading for the University of Wyoming on a football scholarship.

Tom will be wearing No. 66 as he sees action for the Rebel team.

GARY JENSEN

Fremont, the No. 1 team in the state all season long until tied by Scottsbluff in the Big Ten playoffs in its final game, supplies four top stars to the North team for the Shrine Bowl all-star football game at NU's Memorial Stadium, Aug. 23.



Jensen

Fullback Gary Jensen, one of the Tigers most consistent ground gainers, joins back Jon Strong and linemen Jeff Shada and Dan Anderson on coach Hank Amends club.

Gary got his biggest thrill in sports when, from among such talented teammates, his squad picked him as Fremont's most valuable player.

A hard-running 6-1, 185-pounder, Jensen will wear No. 74 in the Shrine Bowl game.

Beman Out Of American

. . . LONGEST HOLE AWAITS GOLFERS IN AKRON

Akron, Ohio (AP) — Deane Beman, injured in a pickup baseball game, pulled out of the $125,000 American Golf Classic Wednesday while Dave Hill, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus made late arrivals.

Beman, winner of the Texas Open earlier this year and one of the top money winners with over $70,000, told tournament officials he collided with Jim Colbert while they and Beman's children were playing baseball near their hotel.

Beman said he suffered rib injuries.

"I got him with a cross-body block," Colbert joked.

The controversial Hill, winner of three of his last four starts, including last week's Philadelphia Classic, arrived Wednesday afternoon. Tournament officials had not been certain he would play because of a minor hand injury.

Nicklaus, the defending champion, and the magnetic Palmer also were among the last of the 144-man field to check in for Thursday's start of the 72-hole event on the huge 7,180 yard par 70 south course at the Firestone Country Club.

Nicklaus, victorious over Frank Beard and Lee Elder in a dramatic five-hole playoff for the title last year.

Racial Feud Flares Between 2 Greats

New York (AP) — The Jackie Robinson-Bob Feller racial feud waxed hotter Wednesday with fresh sparks flying between New York and Washington, D.C., the All-Star capital.

"It's a damned lie, and I want you to quote me," Robinson said in a telephone call from The Associated Press after reading that he once held up an exhibition game while demanding more money.

"This is just further proof that Feller hasn't grown up in 23 years."

Robinson, the first black man to break into major league baseball, and Feller, the one-time fastballing ace of the Cleveland Indians, exchanged sharp words over the game's racial practices during an old-timers' panel Tuesday in Washington.

Later Maury Allen of the New York Post quoted Feller as saying friction first developed back in 1946 when, according to Feller, Robinson refused to take the field unless he was paid three times more than given the other men.

"I was playing against Satchel Paige's All-Stars in 1946," Feller was quoted by Allen. "Satch made a lot of money out of it. So did I.

"Robinson had played in Montreal that year. Just before the game started, he demanded three times as much money as anybody else.

"I told him there were people waiting to see us play and I was going to the mound. If he didn't take the field, I would call the commissioner. He finally took the field for the same price."

Pope Sees Apollo As Antidote To Negativism

©The New York Times

Rome — Pope Paul VI said Wednesday the "superhuman and historic adventure" of Apollo 11 should provide a powerful antidote for the young to the negativism, decadence and defeatism of the "professionals of protest."

Speaking at his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo to several thousand pilgrims, the 71-year-old pontiff asserted also that the truths taught by the Roman Catholic Church had nothing to fear from the advances of scientific knowledge.

Man, he said, in an age filled with marvels had difficulty in focusing his reflective attention on new ones — ordinary new ones.

"But in this case the trauma of the innovation and the wonder is so strong that it would be stupid not to reflect on this superhuman and historic adventure, at which we have all, as amazed spectators, in some way been present," the Pope said.

Science, he noted, had modified "the traditional humanistic mentality" in many debatable ways but on balance, the record of scientific studies was a positive one.

For this reason, he said, "the defeatism in fashion today against society and its context and in general against modern life" was unjustified.

House Approves Niobrara River Compact Plan

Washington (AP)—The House passed Monday and sent to the White House a bill to grant the consent of Congress to a river compact between Wyoming and Nebraska.

The compact would apportion the surface waters and establish a program of study of the groundwaters of the upper Niobrara River and its tributaries.

The compact has been ratified by the legislatures of the two states.

The bill authorizes no appropriations, although there will be minor costs incurred by federal agencies for studies.

Stock Market Drops Continue

New York (AP) — The stock market retreated once again Wednesday, although some selective buying was credited with helping it trim its losses a bit.

"One thing," an analyst said, "is that at least the drop wasn't as bad as it was Tuesday."

The Dow Jones industrial average which had been off 7.04 at 2 p.m. EDT, closed off 6.07 at 827.95, a new low for the year. The DJI lost 11.90 Tuesday to close at its previous low for the year.

Declines jumped into an early lead over advances, but this also was pared by the close. Of 1,574 issues traded, 966 declined, and 386 advanced.

Selective buying among issues which analysts said had fallen to "levels attractive to some traders" was credited with helping slow the retreat somewhat.

Oil and oil-related issues again generally showed losses, although some managed to recover a bit.

Gillette was the most-active issue on the New York Stock Exchange, largely because of a 486,600-share block. It closed off ¼ at 45¼. A Big Board spokesman said the block was the third largest traded this year in terms of shares.

Steels mostly were fractionally lower.

Motors were mixed, with American Motors and Chrysler unchanged at 8¾ and 37, respectively. Ford was off ½ at 42¾. General Motors lost ⅛ to 74¼. After the close, GM reported a drop in both sales and earnings for the second quarter, compared with a similar period last year.

Aircrafts, electronics and utilities mostly were lower.

Volume was 11.69 million shares, compared with 9.78 million Tuesday. The turnover was the largest since 11.73 million shares were traded July 11.

There were 2 new highs for the year — Crown Cork & Seal preferred and Revco D.S. Inc. — and 445 new lows.

The Associated Press 60-stock average lost 2.2 to 294.1 — a new low for the year — with industrials off 4.4, rails off .8, and utilities off .4.

There were 69 blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York Stock Exchange compared with 39 Tuesday.

Volume on the American Stock Exchange came to 3.76 million shares, compared with 3.32 million Tuesday.

The Amex index lost 20 cents to $26.57. Of 1,023 issues traded, 611 declined and 231 advanced.

Fed Steers, Heifers Are Fully Steady

Omaha (AP) — Fed steers and heifers were fully steady here Wednesday. Trading was conducted on moderate supplies under a somewhat draggy demand situation.

Actually, supplies were on the light side compared to a week ago. However, the slight decrease served to allow the trade to maintain a nearly even keel at the week's decline.

Wholesale beef prices continued to undermine the structure. Steer and heifer beef prices were mostly 50 lower around the rail outlets in only moderately pace trading.

Several loads of high-choice and prime steers were included in the run. At least nine loads were included in the grouping of 1,125-1,225 lbs. at 31.00-31.40.

Eight loads or more of toppy heifers scaling 925-1,025 lbs. were bracketed at 30.25-30.50.

Butcher hogs turned modestly higher with a steady to 25 higher reading. Bulk 190-240 lbs. butcher realized 26.00-26.50. sows were mostly steady at 24.50 and down.

Lambs turned another 50 lower as the live trade kept pace with a skidding carcass market. Best new-crops on offer drew 29.25.

Court Officer Goofs Lines

Frankfort, Ky. (AP) — The administrative officer of the Court of Appeals, the state's highest court, has the duty of announcing at the opening of each court session: . . . God save the commonwealth and this honorable court."

Recently, he repeated the phrase a bit differently. Chief Justice Morris Montgomery claimed he heard: "God save the people from this honorable court."

Senators Advance Radio Equipment Bill

A bill to curb citizen possession of radio equipment which interferes with police radio broadcasts and objectives was advanced from general file in the Legislature Wednesday on a 34-0 vote.

Chiefly sponsored by Sen. W. H. Hasebroock of West Point, the measure, LB334, grew out of interim studies.

In amended form the bill prohibits possession of radio equipment which transmits or receives on law enforcement bands, if such possession interferes with law enforcement transmission or reception, is used for arrest evasion purposes or is used for monetary or personal gain.

Adanced 28-0 was a revenue committee bill, LB347, which provides that cabin trailers permanently attached to a site shall be assessed as real property instead of personal property.

Moved ahead 26-0 in a first floor test was Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB418, revising procedures for assessment of railroad manufacturing plants.

An 29-4 favoring vote o general file was accorded McCook Sen. Lester Harsh's LB216, repealing a law which directed appropriation of $500,000 a biennium for state aid in the creation of area vocational technical schools.

Such area trade schools have been established at North Platte, Hastings and Norfolk, with $100,000 of state funds going to each on a matching basis.

Awaiting first round floor debate is a bill proposing a new "community college" concept, with community college areas estabished for purposes of operating junior colleges and trade schools.

Lawmakers accepted for introduction Wednesday forenoon a new bill, LB1432, designed to correct a technical defect in a "truth in lending" bill passed earlier as LB1384, and dealing with installment sales. The legislation is designed to put Nebraska's disclosure in lending provisions in conformity with new federal truth-in-lending regulations.

Noncooperation Asked Of Wives

Jaipur, India (AP) — Rajasthan state Chief Minister M. L. Sukhadia has appealed to Indian women to adopt the Gandhian technique of nonviolent noncooperation — against their husbands to prevent overpopulation.

"Tell your husbands to preduce more wealth and NOT more children," he told a conference of tribal women.

Indian leader Mohandas Gandhi utilized nonviolent noncooperation weapon against the British rulers during the freedom struggle.

$100,000 Grant From Douglas' Goes To Joslyn

Omaha (AP) — Joslyn Art Museum Wednesday announced that it has received a grant of $100,000 from a foundation created by Elva M. Douglas, who died two years ago at the age of 82.

The money is to be used to buy art works representative of nature or life in the Great Plains.

The grant is from the James A. Douglas Foundation, named for Miss Douglas' father, who was a prominent attorney and landowner in Bassett.

Douglas retired to Omaha with his wife and daughter in the early 1920s. He died here in 1928 and his wife died in 1953.

Hike In Omaha Bus Fare Asked

The Omaha Transit Co. filed an application with the State Railway Commission Wednesday for authority to increase fares by five cents.

The proposed rate increases would boost the present general fare from 30 cents to 35 cents per ride, and student and downtown rides from 15 to 20 cents.

A 36-ride ticket would be boosted from $9 to $10.80, and the rate for a 10-ride ticket would be raised from $2.75 to $3.25, the commission reported.
